ALIENIST HIRED FOR PLOTTER

Battle Over Poisoner's Sanity May Rival Thaw Trial; New Hints of Blackmail Found

By FRANK CHARLTON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

New York, March 30.—Ramifications in the amazing million-dollar poison plot which cost the lives of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Peck of Grand Rapids, Mich., have extended until they include blackmail.

Another development is that detectives have been hired to find the author of letters threatening Mrs. Margaret Horton, the "other woman" in the mystery.

The Waite case promises to develop into a legal battle paralleling the Thaw trials. Walter H. Drew, counsel for the accused, announced this afternoon that he had retained the foremost alienist in the country to examine Waite.

Revelations to District Attorney Swann indicate that Dr. Arthur W. Waite, self-confessed poisoner of Mr. and Mrs. Peck, was the victim of a blackmail plot. It is believed in some quarters that the mysterious telegram sent to a member of the Peck family in Grand Rapids and signed "K. Adams," which was the first intimation of foul play, was sent by a person involved in the blackmail con-

PLAN $500,000 FOR NEW AEROPLANES

Washington, March 30.—To meet the emergency caused by the breaking down of most of the army's aeroplanes, Secretary of War Baker today authorized the Signal Corps to purchase eight new aeroplanes at an approximate cost of $18,000 each. The War Department plans to spend $500,000 on its aviation corps. This money will be taken from the $8,000,000 emergency appropriation made by Congress.

PERFORM AUTOPSY ON MALDEN MAN

Daniel J. Sullivan died today at his home, No. 104 Charles street, Malden, where he had been confined to his bed for two weeks after an altercation with a friend. Medical Examiner McCaffrey performed an autopsy this afternoon to determine whether the death was due to pneumonia, or to the injuries suffered in the altercation. The police say Sullivan had planned, upon his recovery, to make a charge of assault against P. A. Haggerty, who is now at the State Farm on a charge of drunkenness.

M'CALL URGES ABOLITION OF DEATH CHAIR

Governor McCall today sent a special message to the Legislature advocating the abolition of capital punishment in Massachusetts.

There is a bill now before the Legislature abolishing the death penalty.

The Governor in his message said only fourteen States are like Massachusetts in having but the single penalty for first degree murder, while in twenty-three other States the Judge may impose a death sentence, or a sentence to life imprisonment.

He said there was no evidence that the death penalty served as a deterrent to criminals, and he concluded:

"Massachusetts a number of years ago changed from punishment by hanging and substituted electrocution, but it is not clear that electrocution is any less barbarous. For in some cases death is not instantaneous, the convict becomes frightfully burned and suffers great torture.

"In considering the influence of capital punishment, too little thought is given to the effect on society at large of this brutal method of inflicting the penalty for murder."

In consideration of the fact that the death penalty has not proved to be a deterrent, he urged its abolition.

FINDS 'DRUNK' ARRESTS TOO FREELY MADE

Police are too prone to make arrests for drunkenness, declared Judge Dowd in the Municipal Court today, in finding Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Mason of Barbara street, Jamaica Plain, not guilty of such a charge.

Mrs. Mason was found technically guilty of assault on a waiter, and his case was placed on file.

In their testimony, Mr. and Mrs. Mason, who are more than 50 years of age, accused the police of handling the woman roughly and subjecting her to insult.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason appeared in court on complaint of Patrolman Harry Butler of the Lagrange street station, who alleged that on the night of March 25 they created a disturbance in a downtown hotel cafe and that Mr. Mason assaulted Peter Gallant, a waiter.

Mr. Mason, who is an inventor and spiracy against Waite. One theory advanced was that the telegram was sent when Dr. Waite refused to advance any more money to those who were commercializing their knowledge of his guilt.

POISONER WAITE'S NEW CONFESSION TELLS OF HIS $25,000 BRIBE OFFER TO EMBALMER

PROSECUTOR IN HUNT FOR OTHERS IN PLOT

The original copy of the telegram has been secured by District Attorney Swann, and it will be studied by handwriting experts in an effort to learn the identity of the sender. The writing is said to suggest that it may have been sent by a woman.

One of the development of the day was the hiring of private detectives by Mrs. Horton to run down the writer of a number of threatening letters she has received. All are believed to have been written by the same person.

Clyde Waite, a brother of the accused man, has arrived here and together with Frank Waite, another brother, visited Bellevue Hospital.

John S. Potter, who had charge of Peck's body, was questioned at length by the District Attorney. He vehemently denied he had sent the message. According to Waite's confession, it was Potter who suggested that Eugene Oliver Kane, the embalmer, be bribed to swear that he used arsenic in the fluid with which he prepared Peck's body for burial. Waite said he agreed to pay Kane $25,000.

Waite search was being made for Kane by detectives, Mrs. Kane announced that her husband intended to give himself up.

"He is not in New York now," said Mrs. Kane, "but I have received a telephone message from a friend of his saying that my husband had promised to start for New York as soon as he learned he was wanted."

According to Waite, he paid Kane $9,000 on account. With the members of the Peck family, including the young wife, openly accusing Waite of him, Waite found himself practically deserted today by all save some of the members of his own family, his lawyers and Mrs. Margaret Horton, the beautiful young singer with whom Waite was exceedingly friendly before his arrest.

It is expected that Mrs Horton will lay bare her soul, expose the full story of her life, in an effort to help the man to whom she confessed today she loved, next to her husband, better than anything else in life.

The "other woman's" story, rather than a plea of insanity, is expected to be the trump card of the defense.

Mrs. Horton reiterated that act of faith in Arthur W. Waite, self-confessed murderer, today, when she crowded him with a voice that quivered with emotion. Again and again she said:

I know he is innocent. I don't believe these terrible stories, these confessions, as they are called. I can never be convinced that he did any wrong until he tells me so with his own lips.

Mrs. Horton made it plain that she intended to fight for her client's possession to the bitter end. Following the conference with Walter R. Deuel, Waite's lawyer, it was stated that she would take the stand as chief witness for the defense.

"Mrs. Horton will prove another Evelyn Nesbit Thaw," said one attorney.

Mrs. Horton had before her a newspaper that stated that the doctor's wife was convinced of his guilt and would aid all possible in the prosecution. With a faraway look in her eyes, she said:

"Oh, I do want to see the doctor so much. Why won't they let me? I still care more for him than anybody in the world except my husband."

"What do you think of his explanation that a man from Egypt prompted him to commit murder?" she was asked.

Rolling her large eyes in seeming amazement she replied:

"I don't believe he ever said that. He never talked that way to me."

"Did you ever see in Dr. Waite any trace upon which to base a defence of insanity?"

"Never! Never! He never exhibited any sign of an unbalanced mind. On the other hand, his mentality always impressed me as unusually keen and well poised. He had wonderful self-control. My friends who met him used to comment upon it. I was frequently told 'Margaret, your companion has a wonderful mastery of himself.'"

"I want to go him to learn the truth myself. I want to tell him of my utter trust in him. I hope I won't have to wait long."

'Other Woman' Declares Waite Is Not Guilty

I know Dr. Waite is innocent. I don't believe these terrible stories, these confessions, as they are called. I can never be convinced that he did any wrong until he tells me so with his own lips.

He never exhibited any sign of an unbalanced mind. On the other hand, his mentality always impressed me as unusually lucid and well poised. He had wonderful self-control. My friends who met him used to comment upon it.

I want to see him to learn the truth myself. I want to tell him of my utter trust in him.

—Mrs. Margaret Horton.

Waite Confesses $25,000 Bribe Offer

New York, March 30.—What person or persons were cognizant of the comprehensive poison plans of Dr. Arthur W. Waite, either before or after the murder of John E. Peck?

In his investigation of the million-dollar poisoning plot District Attorney Edward W. Swann bent the whole force of his office to supply an answer to this question, which has puzzled the authorities for days.

In an amazing amplification of his murder confession Dr. Waite told Judge Swann:

I paused Eugene Oliver Kane, who embalmed the body of Mr. Peck, the sum of $25,000 if he would aid me with perjured testimony at my murder trial and get other witnesses to perjure themselves for me.

The matter of purchasing testimony from Kane was first suggested to me by John S. Potter, manager of the Plowright undertaking establishment at No. 1440 Lexington avenue.

I actually gave Potter $9,000 in cash and a check for $9,400, which has never been presented for payment but is still in his possession.

Potter advised me as to how I could best conceal the purchase of the arsenic with which I killed Mr. Peck, also as to how I might convince the authorities that the arsenic found in Mr. Peck's stomach was a component part of the embalming fluid.

At this time I knew I was suspected of the murder. Potter indeed told me that the district attorney was anxious to get hold of a sample bottle of the embalming fluid. I told Potter it would be advisable to have the embalming fluid contain arsenic. He said it would cost money, but he would consult Kane and send him to me.

As a result of the prisoner's charges, Potter, the undertaker, a slender, black-moustached man of middle age, was taken to the district attorney's office by Detective John Cunliff and bombarded with questions for many hours.

He denied Waite's charges vehemently but will return under subpoena to be questioned about certain contradictions in his statements.

The district attorney's office sent out a general alarm for Kane, the embalmer, who had apparently disappeared from the city. It was planned to arrest Kane on a charge of conspiracy to commit a crime. He was supposed to have in his possession the $9,000 in large bills alleged to have been given him by Waite.

As Waite's brain threw off the drug-induced shackles that have bound it for a week, Judge Swann is plotting more and more important information from him. Slowly the prosecutor is developing the whole story of the dentist's astounding murder schemes.

WANTS TO VISIT DENTIST.

Other developments were:

1—Margaret Horton, the woman of the Plaza "studio," declared that if necessary she would take legal steps to force the district attorney to permit her to visit Waite. She slipped a note into Bellevue Hospital assuring Waite of her belief in his innocence and said that "next to my husband I care more for Dr. Waite than for any other man in the world."

2—Realizing the valuable aid Mrs. Horton could give Waite as a witness in his behalf if the authorities have refused her permission to see him.

3—The four surviving members of the Peck family united in a statement in which they repudiated Dr. Waite and stated that under no circumstances would the Peck family furnish any assistance, financial or otherwise, to his defense.

4—Waite supplied further details of methods he employed in ending the lives of John E. and Hannah M. Peck. He insists that he does not regard himself as a murderer not alone because he was under the influence of a fantastic "man from Egypt," but because the old people's span of life was short anyway.

"I began experimenting upon Mr. and Mrs. Peck as soon as they arrived in the city to visit us," declared Waite to Ray C. Schindler, detective. "I put morphine and all sorts of germs in the food of Mrs. Peck. I thought I would try my schemes out on her first.

"I kept the culture tubes in my library. I would get the germ cultures and put them in Mrs. Peck's food. These did not seem to harm the old lady much and finally I gave her cocaine."

In speaking of his so-called "alter ego" Waite constantly used the pronoun "he." It was always "he" who got the germ cultures, "he" who put the germs in the food.

CALLS FOR HIS WIFE.

"Mr. Peck was going to die anyway," declared Waite. "She was an old woman. She was sick. 'He' gave her the germs, but she would have died anyway. 'He' did not murder her.

"Mr. Peck was old and ill also. The bad man tried to kill him. But he, too, would have died anyway."

Waite dwelt very little, Schindler said, upon the fantastic baleful man from Egypt. Often he cried that he was in an "awful fix."

Again he would utter a petulent protest because his wife has not come to him.

"She knows I love her," he cried. "I was always good to her. Why doesn't she come to me?"

In his talk with Judge Swann, the prisoner made no reference to the evil genius from Egypt. The district attorney saw Waite in the presence of Frank A. Waite and Walter R. Deuel, the former's attorney.

Telling the story of his attempt to purchase perjured testimony at the murder trial that he was certain awaited him, Waite said:

Mr. Potter called upon me just after I returned from Grand Rapids and said that he had discovered that the district attorney was anxious to get a sample of the embalming fluid. I told Potter it would be advisable to have the fluid contain arsenic.

Potter said this would cost money. I asked him how much. He said he didn't know, that he would have to consult Kane who did the embalming and that he would send Kane to me. Potter said:

"You cannot expect Kane to put himself in this position unless he is well paid for it."

Then I told Potter that I had bought the arsenic from a certain druggist. Potter told me that the druggist ought to be given $1000.

On Sunday, March 19, the day after I got back from Grand Rapids, I wrote out a check for $9,400, payable to the order of Kane. This was on account. I agreed to pay Kane $25,000 altogether for his work. I dated the $9,400 check Monday, March 20, and handed it to Kane when he came to my apartment in the Colosseum.

I had two interviews with Kane in my apartment that day. At one interview I handed him the check. Shortly afterwards Kane came back and said that Potter had advised him not to bank it. Kane then demanded that I give him the sum in cash.

Kane suggested that I meet him with the cash at the cigar store on the south side of Fifty-ninth street, near southeast corner of Ninth avenue.

I cashed the check, through Cunniff, the gracekeeper, as I told you and then drove to the cigar store. There I found Kane waiting. I stepped up to him and handed him the money in a roll. It was not wrapped. It was a large roll of $500, $100 and some $50 bills.

Kane put the money in his pocket and stepped up to the assistant in the rear of the cigar store and said:

"I don't believe I'll wait for that telephone call any longer. I am going away." With that we separated.

Kane did not give me back the check for $9,400. I had agreed to give him, as I said before, $25,000.

On Sunday afternoon when I returned to my apartment I discovered that my telephone wire had been tapped by detectives. Then I wrote a letter to Potter telling him not to communicate with me by phone. I called in the superintendent of the Colosseum, a Swede named Olsen, and sent him with the letter to Potter.

After that I saw Kane and asked him whether he had gotten the arsenic to be placed in the specimen of embalming fluid he was to take to the district attorney's office.

BEGAN ARSENIC STUDY.

Kane said, "Yes, I went way down on Long Island. I got three sticks of arsenic from a gardener that I have known for a long time." I expressed surprise. I didn't know arsenic came in sticks.

Kane said it did and that gardeners use it in their business. That interested me and I began to study the subject of arsenic with reference to gardening. I asked Kane: "Did you find that gardeners use arsenic to destroy cut worms at the roots of tender plants?" Kane said that he had found that this was just the use to which gardeners put the poison.

Kane told me that he was sure he could help me. He said that now he had been instrumental in having a defendant in a case in New Jersey turned out of court when he was able to swear that arsenic was often found in embalming fluid. This was about six years ago. The defendant was accused of murder by poisoning.

Kane told me that he had been brought into two or three cases in the same way. "Don't be afraid. I can help you," he assured me. "I can fix it all right." Detective Cunliff traced Kane to his wife, Greenport, L. I. Kane went there two days ago after visiting a friend at Orient Point, L. I. He was reported to be in that vicinity. The embalmer did not communicate with SUIT LOST BY COUSIN OF T. R.

New York, March 30.—John Ellis Roosevelt, cousin of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who wept bitterly while testifying as to the lack of affection of his "zero" bride, today lost his suit for the annulment of his marriage.

Supreme Court Justice Crane dismissed the action on the ground that the plaintiff had not established his charge of incurable disability on the part of his wife, Edith Hammersley Briscoe Roosevelt, who is only half her husband's age.

Mrs. Roosevelt began a suit for separation in Suffolk County about October 27, which was deferred until the annulment suit should be disposed of.

WEDDED TO WIDOW.

Mr. Roosevelt, who is 32, met the charming Mrs. Briscoe shortly after the death of his first wife in 1912. Mrs. Briscoe, whose maiden name was Hammersley, was the widow of Lieutenant H. F. Briscoe, a paymaster in the navy.

They were married, and after five months abroad returned in June and went to Meadowcroft, the Roosevelt country place at Oyster Bay, L. I. There, according to Mrs. Roosevelt, her husband made life unbearable by his violent temper and excessive demands.

Roosevelt took the stand in his own behalf in the annulment suit and the recollections of his first marriage brought tears to his eyes. He said that for thirty-two years he was never separated from his first wife for a day.

SPURNED BY BRIDE.

He again broke down when testifying to the coldness with which his second wife met his advances, and declared she was a wife in name only. He said he tried in every way to win her love, playing the courtier and showering her with attentions, but she spurned him.

Mr. Roosevelt admitted he had a "brainstorm," but claimed it was due to a revelation regarding his wife. Physicians testified Mrs. Roosevelt's feeling toward her husband amounted to a positive aversion.

THROUGH CARS TO JEFFRIES POINT

Representatives Menasesh E. Bradley and John J. Carney of Ward 2, East Boston, received notice from the Public Service Commission today that the Boston Elevated will resume continuous trips of Jeffries Point trolleys through the East Boston Tunnel on Saturday, April 8.

When the tunnel extension to Bowdoin square was opened the from Jeffries Point, formerly running into the tunnel, were stopped at Bowdoin square and passengers were transferred to other cars for the tunnel. Representatives Bradley and Carney took the matter before the commission.

EVERYBODY ASKED TO JOIN IN BOSTON'S CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Plans for the big clean-up campaign are under way today.

Clean-up time will be the first two weeks in May. Everyone is asked to join in. No one is too great, or no one too humble, to do his share toward making a cleaner Boston.

Meanwhile the deplorable condition of the streets in the Back Bay and other residential sections is suggested as a good point of beginning for an immediate clean-up movement.

Here are some of the ways in which it is proposed to make Boston more orderly, healthful, more beautiful and a better city to live in:

A campaign against rats.

Receptacles in street cars for waste paper.

More care in the use of streets.

Better enforcement of laws with regard to disposal of rubbish.

Better regulation of dumps.

Clean-up of all alleys, streets and back yards.

Paint all houses.

Posters requesting co-operation will be distributed all over the city. The Eastern Advertising Company has offered to place them in the subways free of charge. Mayor Curley promised the co-operation of all city employes. Members of the various city departments will distribute thousands of circulars, printed in Yiddish, Italian and Polish, as well as in English, asking the co-operation of all the people in the work undertaken by the Clean-Up Committee.

The committee, composed of many of the most prominent people in the city, met in the aldermanic chamber of City Hall. Mrs. Arthur H. Merritt, president of the Boston City Federated Woman's Clubs, presided. Mrs. Percy G. Bolster was elected permanent chairman and Miss Annette L. Crocker secretary of the committee.

George C. Morton, chairman of the New England Clean-Up and Paint-Up Club, told of the big success that his committee had had.

He said:

"Our success in interesting the people in our work has been wonderful. More than seventy-eight cities have made inquiries as to how to carry on the work. Much of our success was due simply to appealing to the civic pride of the people."

Mr. Morton suggested some improvements that might be made in the campaign this year. He advocated a more definite plan for circularizing the city, so that each householder will receive a circular; better plans of inspection; more co-operation; more receptacles for rubbish; better enforcement of laws and more regulation for public dumps.

Mayor Curley addressed the committee and promised his co-operation. He called attention to the several hundred old buildings condemned during his administration and incidentally announced his candidacy for re-election by saying that he intended to do a whole lot more in the same line during the next six years.

It was voted to establish a subcommittee in each of the fourteen sanitary districts of the city, besides many citizens, each committee to include in its make-up a health inspector, a fire chief and a captain of Boy Scouts.

COMMITTEES APPOINTED.

Following is a list of committees appointed:

Central committee—Mrs. Percy G. Bolster, Miss Annette L. Crocker, Edward Murphy, commissioner of public works; John Grady, fire commissioner; Francis X. Mahoney, health commissioner; Thomas Jordan, Henry Abrams, John J. Walsh and O. E. Loomis.

The chairmen of the fourteen sanitary districts follow:

District 1, J. J. Toomey, South Boston; district 2, Mrs. Edwin L. Gibbs, East Boston; district 3, P. F. Kyle, Charlestown; district 4, Mrs. W. C. Crawford, Allston; district 5, Mrs. E. E. Huden, Jamaica Plain; district 6, Miss Ruth H. Hatch, Dorchester; district 7, T. H. Hinsdeal, Roxbury; district 8, Mrs. George Smith, Back Bay district 9, H. S. THRUST OF SHAFT FATAL TO HORSE

A horse owned by Louis Epstein of No. 24 Parks street, East Boston, was pierced in the stomach by a wagon-shaft today and was shot by order of a veterinarian.

This horse was first of a string of five Epstein horses which were being led to work. As the horse rounded the corner of Bremen and Porter streets another horse, drawing a milk wagon of the H. P. Hood & Sons Company, came around the corner from Porter street. The milkman was delivering milk and the Hood horse was walking slowly along its accustomed route. One of the shafts caught the Epstein leader squarely in the stomach.

INQUIRY ON CHARGE OF LOG ROLLING

An inquiry into the charges of "log-rolling" against the members of the Legislative Committee on Public Health was begun today by Speaker Channing H. Cox of the House of Representatives. Speaker Cox entered the Committee's room at the State House at 10.30 this morning, the hour set for a public hearing on five important matters of legislation, and found but two members of the Committee in attendance. At 10.55 o'clock Senator Clark of Brockton and Representative Hart of Webster, were the only members present. Five members of the Committee were absent at 11.25.

WOMAN STRUCK BY CAR AT ARLINGTON

A woman, believed to be Ellen Riley, and extremely deaf, walked before an outbound Lowell car on Massachusetts avenue near Franklin street, Arlington, today, and was struck and seriously injured. She was taken to Dr. Young's Hospital on Massachusetts avenue, where an operation was performed in an effort to save her life. She was injured about the head.

WATERTOWN MAN DIES IN THEATRE

Say Policeman Was Brutal to Schoolgirls

Charges of brutality to herself and her two daughters were made today by Mrs. Kate Gordon of West Springfield street against Patrolman Frederick H. Allen.

They charge that:

Allen pushed Mrs. Gordon so violently that she fell in the street;

that

Allen forced Agnes and Katherine Gordon, the daughters, both high school students, into a patrol wagon;

that

Allen clapped Katherine Gordon's face when she objected to the assault on her mother; and that

The police at the East Dedham street station were impolite and rude.

The girls, Katherine and Agnes, are fifteen and eighteen years, respectively. Their version of the alleged assault is as follows:

"My daughters and I were returning from an entertainment," Mrs. Gordon said yesterday, "when we heard a number of revolver shots near our home. My daughter, Agnes, became frightened and fainted. Several men ran to her aid and placed her on a stoop.

"While we were reviving her, officer Allen came along and, without any explanation, dragged Agnes to a patrol wagon and placed her inside. When I insisted in going along, he placed his hand over my mouth and pushed me back so that I felt into a heap of snow."

Katherine, the younger girl, supplemented this:

"When I saw mother fall," she said, "I told the policeman that he had hurt her, and that he ought to be ashamed of himself. Then he turned on me and slapped my face."

Carnegie Will Punishes Son Who Wed Nurse

Pittsburgh, March 30.—William Coleman Carnegie, who married a nurse who attended him, is cut off with a small trust fund in the will of his mother, Mrs. Lucy C. Carnegie, sister-in-law of Andrew Carnegie, which has been admitted to probate.

Letters testamentary have been issued to the other five children, each of whom receives a full share of the estate, and who are appointed executors and trustees—Frank M. Carnegie, Andrew Carnegie 2d, Thomas M. Carnegie, George L. Carnegie and Mrs. Margaret Hitkeston.

William C. Carnegie and his wife are to receive the income of the trust fund during their lifetime, but if the former nurse divorces her husband she will lose her share of the income. The estate is estimated at more than $15,000,000.

HEAVY BAIL FOR 12 PRISONERS WHO ESCAPED

Providence, March 30.—Twelve of the sixteen prisoners who escaped from the jail while being transported to the county jail on March 21 were indicted by the grand jury today, each being held in $2,000 each, and not in $3,000 each.

The first six were held in $10,000 each for assault with a dangerous weapon; $10,000 for assault with attempt to kill, and $5,000 for escaping. They were Edward H. Manson, Joseph E. Leonard, Alfred Follins, Wilfred H. Charpentier, Thomas J. Allen and George H. Maher. They will be given a hearing on Monday.

The other six, who were arrested for complicity were Michael J. Rogers, Joseph B. Hopkins, Charles Messenger, Nicholas Lizzo, Thomas F. McCarthy and Louis R. Niles. Thomas A. Leavens, William Goddard and Henry A. Dean are still at large. Some of the sixteenth was not held with the others inasmuch as the police are satisfied he was made to join the fleeing men against his will.

The men, with fifteen others, were being taken to the County Jail from the county jail by Deputy Sheriff Ralph Tillinghast, who was shot in the neck and arm in a hospital, and Deputy Sheriff Nathan Colvin was badly beaten.

Mountain Torrents Harnessed to Electrify a Great Railway

In the fastnesses of the western mountain millions of tons of water have plunged wastefully away for ages. Meanwhile, to haul the country's traffic over the vast ramparts of the Rockies by steam traction has meant the consumption of an enormous quantity of the nation's coal supply and high operating expenses.

It has been reserved for "The St. Paul Road" to change all this—to abandon steam as a motive power in the mountains, and to use the limitless energy of the harnessed streams to electrically operate its trains

The electrification of 440 miles of main line between Harlowton, Mont. and Avery, Idaho, (115 miles between Three Forks and Deer Lodge, Mont., now in operation) passing mile-high over the Great Continental Divide, marks a new era in railroading and erects another mile-stone in the world's progress.

It means the conservation of resources—more efficient and economical operation—better maintenance of schedules—the practical elimination of vexatious delays due to bad weather—and a notable increase in travel delights.

Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul

RAILWAY

This line, pre-eminent in scenery and service, is now also the most extensively electrified road in the world, affording the traveler a smokeless, dustless, gasless trip through the beautiful scenery of the Belt, Rocky and Bitter Root Mountains. Mark well the advantages of "The St. Paul" so that when arranging your next trip to the North Coast you will know the way of greatest comfort and charm.

Booklet giving full particulars of the "St. Paul's" electrification and its advantages can be secured at the address below.

U. S. INVESTIGATES ALLEGED SECRET ORDERS TO U-BOATS

United States against Germany for having violated pledges solemnly given to this country.

Ambassador Gerard's report of his inquiries regarding the status of the steamer Sussex and whether Germany accepts responsibility for the attack was expected to reach here late today or tomorrow. The text of some of the affidavits of the Americans who were on the steamers English man, Manchester Engineer and Eagle Point has been received by Secretary Lansing, but will be withheld for the present until other facts now being sought are secured.

The evidence so far at hand, officials say, seems conclusive in proving that every one of these ships was attacked without justification and that submarines and not floating mines were responsible. In at least two instances the affidavits specifically tell of seeing the submarine that was responsible.

ENVOY IN CONFERENCE.

Count von Bernstorff, the German Ambassador, went to the State Department at noon today and held a conference with Counsellor Polk. The Ambassador said that he had had no official advice from his government dealing with the submarine situation.

The Ambassador insisted that "much misinformation" was being sent from abroad dealing with the alleged submarine activities.

The Ambassador said that he had taken up with Counsellor Polk "only some unimportant trade matters and that the submarine situation was not touched on in any way."

He made it plain that if the submarine question was to be discussed the discussion must be initiated by the State Department. He said that he had no information whatever regarding the various sinkings of vessels and being investigated by the United States.

"I am positively convinced," he added, "that the Sussex was sunk by striking a mine. My government strongly disapproves the sinking of the Sussex and is not violating international law."

BLAME TORPEDO.

Ambassador Page at London not only reports that all of the evidence so far secured by him places the blame for the Sussex on a German torpedo, but also states that he has been officially assured that the submarine which sank the Sussex fired four torpedoes, which missed, at a British destroyer en route to the rescue of the injured vessel.

Sources close to the White House as well as complete reversal to reversal of her present policy in the event severance of diplomatic relations. They point out that the circumstantial evidence that submarines are running shoots is of the strongest sort and fully convincing.

Denial of responsibility they say, would show the hand of proof that the German pledges have been violated on the United States and that by the explanation that would be done the administration has moved more perfectly in the case at every point before taking any steps to bring the controversy to an issue.

Floods Interfere With Russian Drive

Petrograd, March 30.—Rains and melting snows have caused floods along the front which are seriously interfering with the Russian offensive against the Austro-German armies.

A large section of the marsh and lake district has been inundated and in some places the Russians have been compelled to retire from some of their positions to new line the ground was low.

The highways are deep with mud and the movement of troops and supplies has become very difficult.

German aviators have been very active for several days. Knowing that the Russians are having a great deal of difficulty in getting supplies to the front over the muddy roads the Germans have tried to put important railways out of commission with bombs.

Handicaps imposed by the weather are also affecting the Germans, but their disadvantages are less, owing to the fact that they are on the defensive and have more railways behind their lines.

At some points on the Dvina River and south of Dvinsk there has been a terrible artillery duel.

South of Lake Narocz the Russians have captured German trenches at the point of the bayonet, following a violent bombardment of the Teutons positions.

U. S. CONSUL TO LEAVE SALONICA

Athens, March 30.—The Patris says that the consuls of the United States, Spain an Rumania have asked their governments for authority to leave Salonica, with their respective nationals owing to the insecurity of the place.

Four German aeroplanes were brought down to the air and over Salonica Monday. Two machines were shot down as they tried to approach the waterfront, while the others were brought to earth later during a chase by French machines. The Aviators of all four of the machines were killed.

The Mayor of Salonica has telegraphed King Constantine asking that the populations of the city be protected against future raids. The funerals of the victims of the aerial attack were marked by shouts of "down with barbarians and criminals."

One of the bombs fell in front of the house of General Mauhopoulos, commander of the Greek forces in Salonica.

Plans were made to hold mass meetings at Salonica, but the government has forbidden them.

The Greek government has protested to the Central Powers against the air raid, in which twenty persons were killed.

CZAR DRIVES TEUTON FORCES AT NAROCZ

London, March 30.—Although a thaw set in on the Russian front and the rivers are flooded and the lowlands turned into morasses, hard fighting between the Germans and Russians continues from the Dvinsk region southward. Near Lake Narocz the Germans have been driven out of a wooded sector and their counter attacks repulsed by the Russians. Six German trenches have been taken by the Russians in the Ogineski canal region.

The Russians have been on the offensive along the Stripa region and on the Bessarabian front. In the latter region the Russian artillery is very active.

275,000 ENGLISH WOMEN AT WORK

London, March 30.—"Two hundred and seventy-five thousand women are now doing men's work," declared Walter Long, president of the local government board, in the House of Commons.

"It has been discovered that women are capable of doing work which they had previously believed to be physically incapable of," he added.

New Governor of Paris.

Paris, March 30.—General Dubail was today appointed military governor of Paris and commander of the army protecting the capital, succeeding General Maunoury, who retires at his own request owing to ill health.

WAR SUMMARY

Infantry fighting has been resumed in the Verdun region, French and German troops both making gains. The French have driven back the Germans in the Avocourt wood, thus registering their first successful counter offensive of any importance since the Verdun battling began.

This successful French attack seems to have provoked the Germans into new activity; for they launched counter attacks against the French—which failed—and then attacked on their own account a little to the north, penetrating several lines of French trenches over a front more than a mile, and establishing themselves in the outskirts of the village of Malancourt.

The effect of this German gain is to make the Bethincourt salient difficult for the French to hold. Bethincourt must fall before the French position on Dead Man's Hill, the key to the northwest defenses of Verdun, can be subjected to an encircling attack.

The Spring thaw has put a check to Russian operations, and the Germans appear to be safe enough on this line for a few weeks to come, till the ground shall have dried out sufficiently for effective maneuvring.

The British and Germans are still fighting in the St. Eloi region, where the British recently made a short gain. Nothing of importance has yet developed there.

The Italians attacked and reconquered a position taken from them by the Austrians on the heights northwest of Gorizia, taking some prisoners.

A German air raid upon Salonica, where the allied forces are establishing a military base, resulted in the death of twenty persons, according to the French official report.

The Greek government has protested to the central powers against the raid, there is talk of martial law in Salonica, and it is not impossible that relations between Germany and Greece may suffer.

German submarines appear to be sinking allied merchantmen with a free hand; and the crisis precipitated by the Sussex incident may yet develop along serious lines.

ENTIRE GERMAN DIVISION IS WIPED OUT IN VERDUN ATTACK

By CHARLES P. BERTELLI,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

London, March 30.—Nearly an entire division was wiped out by French machine guns and "seventy-fives" when the Germans attacked the positions northwest of Verdun yesterday, according to Paris dispatches today. The German losses were placed at 15,000 men.

The fighting around Avocourt forest and the village of Malancourt is described in dispatches from the front as "extremely bloody."

From three to seven waves of German infantry swept toward the French trenches. At least 30,000 were in the attacking forces. These were mostly drawn from the Bavarian corps and the Fifteenth Reserve army corps.

According to today's German report hand to hand fighting took place all night in Avocourt wood, northwest of Verdun, and French attacks, delivered after a heavy bombardment, were repulsed.

Following is the text of today's German official report:

"West front—Two miles west of Chaulnes, in the region of Lihons, we raided a position of the enemy and captured a captain and 57 men.

REPULSE FRENCH.

"West of the Meuse after vigorous artillery preparation, the French made repeated attacks northwest of Avocourt in an effort to retake some of the ground we had captured from them, but all their efforts failed.

"To the southwestern corner of Avocourt wood fighting developed at close quarters. It continued through the night until the early morning hours, when the enemy was obliged to slacken his efforts.

"Violent artillery duelling developed on both banks of the Meuse.

"In Lorraine our artillery was active between Domevre and Bremenil.

"Nothing important occurred on the rest of the front.

"On March 29 one of our aerial bombarding squadrons threw fifteen shells of large calibre on the station at Metz-Sablons and five on the station at Pagny-Sur-Moselle. On the night of March 28 two of our aviators bombarded the station at Maizeres-Le-Metz."

It was also officially announced by Berlin that an English biplane had been shot down west of Bapaume.

Following is the text of today's French communique:

"South of the Somme, after a violent bombardment, the Germans were able to penetrate one of our advanced positions west of Vermandovillers. They were thrown out, however, by our counter-attacks.

"German counter-attacks launched against our position in Avocourt wood were repulsed.

HEAPS OF BODIES.

"In front of Avocourt redoubt the Germans retired, leaving heaps of corpses on the ground."

"East of the Meuse and in the Woevre there was an intermittent bombardment. The Germans dropped bombs on the river north of St. Mihiel, but caused no damage.

"On Wednesday our aeroplanes bombarded the railway station at Maizeres-Le-Metz."

COURT GRANTS MRS. CLAPP DIVORCE

Testifying before Judge O'Connell in the divorce court today, Charles E. Clapp of Crest avenue, Beachmont, denied that he swore at his wife, Lavina L., from ten minutes to an hour at a time. He also asserted that he had never threatened to knock his wife down.

Nevertheless the court granted Mrs Clapp a divorce on the ground of cruel and abusive treatment.

"Mrs. Clapp was very irritable," said Clapp, "and she had hysterical spells four or five times. She lost her temper very easily and swore at me.

"We were married in 1906 and went to live in East Lynn. While there we did not have any trouble except on one occasion, when my wife and mother disagreed about the arrangement of some furniture. I told my wife to leave the furniture alone as it was the property of my mother.

"When we moved to Beachmont, in 1909, we had some trouble. One night Mrs. Clapp accused my oldest boy and myself of being out in my launch with a woman. I had been out in the launch with a party of sixteen who had hired the launch.

"I never slapped my wife's face. Neither did I throw a cookie at her nor grab her by the throat. The charge that I threatened to knock my wife down is also false.

"At one time my wife pounded my boy between the shoulders with her closed fists when he did something at the table which she did not approve. I informed her I did not approve of her act and told her to punish him in a proper way.

"I never swore from ten minutes to an hour at a time. I do not know any more than the average man."

TUNNEL TIED UP FOR 20 MINUTES

Traffic in the Washington street tunnel was halted for about twenty minutes when an Elevated train was stalled on the incline between North Station and Haymarket square at 5 o'clock today. Three cars went dead on the rear of the westbound train, making it necessary to detach the forward car, to which the passengers were transferred. The car was run to the North Station, where the passengers changed to surface cars. The dead cars were then shunted out of the way of traffic.

Held on Texas Charge.

Jack Ford was held by United States Commissioner Hayes today for extradition to Texas to face a charge there of violation of the Mann act.

Rheumatism Advice

Here is prescription that is said to be unique in that it is probably the surest known remedy; neutralizes acid in the blood and gives results after first dose. "One ounce of Toris compound, and one ounce syrup of Sarsaparilla Pur, these two ingredients in half pint bottle, fill up with ordinary hot water, mix a and at bed time." Get ingredients at any drug store; easily prepared in one ounce sealed yellow packages put up by the Pharm. Co., Boston. G—(Advertisement)

RIVALRY GROWS IN BEST BABY CONTEST

Forty babies from forty towns and cities have entered the great Boston AMERICAN Better Babies' prize contest.

This is a good start, but only a start. Every town within thirteen miles of the State House will have the privilege of sending all the healthy, robust babies within its district, provided they are between six and twenty months old.

There should be thousands competing for the fifty-one prizes offered for perfect babies. Arlington, Winchester, Wakefield, Norwood, Nahant, Lynn, Chelsea, Weymouth are all within the limit and thirty-two other cities.

Many of the cities and towns of Greater Boston have not yet been heard from. Are there no prize babies in Lexington? in Dover? in Needham? in Swampscott? in Woburn or Watertown? These places have sent no entries as yet.

TWINS ENTER CONTEST.

From one city there came today the records of a pair of twins, both good healthy babies. Needless to add their proud parents would be happy if both won gold medals.

Inquiries are beginning to arrive from mothers who want to know how to bring their babies up to the standard that they may enter the contest, either this year or next.

Dr. Mary T. Moore, of the post-natal clinic of the Homeopathic Hospital, will be ready each day at 2 to give information about the babies. Send her your questions now while the decision by judges is still far off. Your baby may be ready by the middle of April.

Dr. Young answers one mother who asked what should be done for indigestion, constipation and eczema as follows:

"The best way to regulate constipation is to find the cause and remove it if possible.

A very frequent cause is irregular feeding; too much or too little feeding.

Are you giving your baby warm water? This, also in time, if amounts and character of food is all right, aids digestion very materially.

It is necessary to know what kind of food baby is receiving to answer the question properly.

SOME EXPERT ADVICE.

Another possible cause for constipation may be because the band about baby's body is too tight.

A little orange juice for a baby several months old is often beneficial to the bowels and general condition.

Eczema in the case of this baby is probably due to the same cause which causes the sore tongue, and should be helped in the same way.

If relief is gained by these hints no physician need be consulted; but if not consult the doctor.

To mothers who are having difficulty with feeding, I should like to throw out a few hints.

1—Feed at regular intervals. This means not when baby cries, but every three or four hours by the clock, as preferred.

The best time in most cases is to start at 6 a. m. Babies of months a baby should not be taking any night feeding.

2—Too much feeding. Do not allow baby to nurse more than twenty minutes, and not too greedily. If baby regurgitates (throws up food) a few minutes after feeding, it is a sign it has taken too much.

BOTTLE FEEDING RULES.

An average rule for bottle feeding is one more ounce of milk than the baby is months old; for instance, a baby six months should have seven ounces, subject of course to exceptions.

3—Do not handle baby immediately after feeding. And be free of colic or severe indigestion are caused in this way. Hold baby on your shoulder about fifteen minutes after feeding; this tends to allow food to settle in stomach.

4—Give baby plenty of water (throws up food) to prevent or lessen dangers of infection.

There are many questions coming to the Best Baby editor which show that some mothers do not read the paper carefully.

HOW TO FILL OUT BLANKS.

If you want to enter your baby, cut from the daily AMERICAN a blank printed especially for the contest. On this blank are dotted lines on which answers to questions should be written carefully and neatly.

You must tell names of baby, father, mother. You must write the date of baby's birth, the weight at present, the height from top of head to sole of feet, the distance around its head, about its chest at the largest place, and around its abdomen.

A picture should be sent, if possible, and a letter should be written giving a short history of baby, with some of its characteristics; how many teeth, does it crawl, walk, can it talk, etc., and anything else you care to say.

A baby may enter the contest if it will be six months old before May 8.

Every baby in Greater Boston, of the right age, is invited to enter the contest. The more that come the better the AMERICAN will like it. Do not be afraid if your baby is not quite perfect. It may receive a bronze medal, and that will be no small honor.

SCENARIO CONTEST TO END TOMORROW

The Scenario Contest comes to an end tomorrow night. The time limit for entering scenarios in this contest to promote the "Better Babies" movement expires at midnight of Friday, March 31, when all scenarios must be at the AMERICAN office.

There is a cash prize of $100, offered by Louis Aganeis Archer, the large philanthropist, for the best scenario. The contest is limited to clergymen, but with no restriction as to residence or denomination. The scenarios must show the contrast between babies improperly and properly raised.

Billy Sunday to Give Away No Silk Hats Here

Billy Sunday will not give away silk hats or coats in Boston after the close of his religious campaign here. These presents have gone to such absurd lengths in other places that the Boston committee will shut down upon the practice of rewarding the volunteer services of many workers.

The Boston committee brought it to the attention of the evangelist during their recent visit to Baltimore and told him plainly the Boston committee would not stand for any such personal presents.

Billy Sunday replied, "Boston is no conservative that she will have what ever she wants."

Say Synthetic Diamond Has Been Discovered

Geneva, March 30.—The Synthetic diamond, long sought for by science, appears at last to have been discovered, says the Geneva Tribune today.

"Research work is being carried out at the Geneva laboratory of inorganic chemistry," adds the newspaper, "on the reduction of the boric anhydrides in the form of snow by chloropolyzion petroline in solution and other nitrous organic liquids.

"In the residue, besides free carbons of varying weight, have been found very hard and very heavy white tetrahedral and octohedral crystals, which burned without leaving ashes and were insoluble in nitric acids, possessing, as far as the analyses made up to the present time, all the properties of the diamond."

SEPARATE TRIALS IN PLOTS ON SHIPS

New York, March 30.—Federal Judge Mayer today granted a separate trial to Max Breitung, Dr. Herbert Kienzle, Englebert Bronkhorst and Paul Daeche, who were indicted with Lieutenant Robert Fay and Walter Scholz on a charge of conspiring to blow up ships carrying munitions.

RICHARDS KEPT IN BY FALL FROM HORSE

James L. Richards, president of the Boston Consolidated Gas Company, who was thrown from his horse last week, will be confined to his home in Newton for two or three weeks. The accident caused a fracture of two small bones in the vertebrae, which is not serious, but requires the patient to be very quiet.

British Admit Tires.

London, March 30.—In reply to a question in the House of Commons, Captain Ernest Pretyman, parliamentary secretary to the Board of Trade, said there was no pressure intention to prohibit importation of tires for automobiles and bicycles.

BARGAINS FOR ONE DAY ONLY

White's Famous Month-End Sale

A great One Day of Cut Prices throughout the entire store to clear away remnants, odd lots, broken sizes, discontinued styles, etc. It's so difficult to get goods that we have not held a Month-End Sale since January. But now the great shipments of new goods are arriving and we feel justified in holding this one-day sale, so that our stocks, as far as possible, on April 1 shall show only new goods in complete assortments.

We may not hold another sale like this for several months.

VILLA LOOTS RANCHES, BURNS BRIDGES AND DESTROYS RAILROAD IN PATH OF FLIGHT

BANDIT CHIEF LIKE A MADMAN IN RAIDS

Villista forces were seen yesterday about fifty-five miles from Casas Grandes.

General Funston is now hopeful that the American cavalry detachments which raced with Villa to cut off his flight southward have been successful and that they have once more "turned" him toward the north.

If Villa's efforts to escape to his mountain refuge have been balked, say army officers at Fort Sam Houston, his capture or death are certain. Little credence is given to the statement at El Paso of Villa's former aviator, Frederico W. Perego, that the bandit leader was wounded at Columbus and has since been hiding near the border.

General Funston now hopes that General Carranza will permit the transportation of food supplies for the troops over the Mexican National Railway, even under the restrictions the First Chief has imposed with reference to the Mexico Northwestern.

"The restrictions placed on the use of the Mexico Northwestern are vastly disappointing," said General Funston, "but anything is better than nothing. The use of the Mexican National is now more essential."

Bars Sending of Munitions by Railroads

Washington, March 30.

SECRETARY BAKER issued this statement at the War Department:

"We have directed General Funston to tender for railroad shipment cargoes of supplies, either directly to our military men or to civilians in Mexico. This does not involve any tender of munitions for such railroad transportation, nor does it involve the use of American military guards on any Mexican trains."

Town Burned by Fleeing Bandits

El Paso, March 30.—Francisco Villa and his bandits appeared at Santo Tomas, on the Mexican Northwestern Railroad, about half way between Madera, General Pershing's new base, and Chihuahua City.

He signaled his advent by burning the town and the railroad bridges for miles, tearing up the railroad track to cut American communications, impressing townspeople into his service and looting all the nearby ranches.

There were no American troops near.

News of Villa's dashing raid was received by wire from that town.

Santo Tomas is near the Santa Maria River, in the valley of the same name, but many miles from the Santa Catarina Canyon, where the American troops headed to look for Villa.

The little village is due south of Casuquina and about 1 miles north of Guerrero.

If there are United States troops at Guerrero they have been cut off from Madera, their base of communication.

The advice received here did not state whether Villa crossed the Northwestern and proceeded south or whether he remained in the town.

TROOPS APPEAR DESPERATE.

It was believed authentic he would remain, for it is certain there would be American troops not more than thirty miles north of him, coming south from the direction of Namiquipa, and others twenty miles northwest in the vicinity of Santa Catarina Canyon.

With Villa thus definitely located, it is believed General Pershing, if his troops can exceed Villa's pace, will engage him in battle within forty-eight hours.

The message from Santo Tomas indicated Villa behaved like a madman.

His troops appeared ravenous and desperate.

It would not be surprised if he turned at bay and met the issue squarely or tried an ambuscade.

Ship Supplies to U. S. Troops by Rail

By WALLACE E. SMITH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

El Paso, Tex., March 30.—Supplies for the American forces in Mexico will go forward by rail before night. There was intense activity at the quartermasters office today, every available man was pressed into service to speed the supplies so urgently needed by the pursuers of Francisco Villa.

General Carranza's permission to use the Mexico Northwestern Railway for shipments is regarded as a distinct help to American troops as far as getting supplies started, but it is nevertheless feared at Fort Bliss there will be considerable delay after the heavily laden cars have crossed the border.

The Carranza government is unable itself to operate trains between Juarez and Casas Grandes, even heavily guarded. Trains have been held up and robbed and not infrequently derailed and wrecked.

Carranza's apparent reconsideration of his first refusal to let the Mexican railroads be used to supply the American troops is attributed to sharp representations made to him by the American diplomatic agent now at Queretaro. It is hoped at Fort Bliss that the First Chief will further yield and let the Americans guard these supply trains or elect furnish guards of Carranza troops.

9,000 IN MEXICO.

American troops in Mexico are said to number about 9,000 and are on battalions, according to persons arriving here from the Casas Grandes district. Though more than 100 automobile trucks have been pressed in the service between Casas Grandes and Columbus, N. M., each carrying more than two tons of supplies, this service has been unsatisfactory, owing to the difficulties encountered in trying to keep the roads in repair.

Carranza's government will benefit financially from the terms that the de facto government's head has granted to the United States.

Commission men in El Paso estimated today that Carranza will realize more than $1,000 a day from the importations for the American expedition, if such supplies are consigned to dealers in the Casas Grandes district. Wholesale merchants here predicted that Carranza would refuse to exempt from duty any commodity taken across the border.

REPORT CONFLICT.

In the meantime conducting reports are coming in as to Villa's whereabouts. The latest agree that the bandit leader is bound for Santa Catalina. The military maps fail to locate this place, but it is believed to be a ranch on the Santa Maria.

Army officers are inclined to believe that Villa is heading for some point near Chihuahua city, where he has many friends.

A few reports say that Torreon is Villa's goal. The railway in the vicinity of Torreon is "in bad condition." This phrase when used by Mexican officials usually indicates that bandits are active.

Villa has active adherents between Chihuahua and Torreon, and from there he might try to effect a junction with Emiliano Zapata, head of the southern revolutionists.

Mexico "Corn King" Has Peace Plan

By E. V. B. RICKER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

San Antonio, Tex., March 30.—Senorito Dominguez, Mexico's "Corn King," arrived here today from a visit to Washington and New York to interest the American government and leading financiers in a plan to pacify Mexico through a comprehensive agrarian scheme.

Dominguez said that in the East he had consulted members of President Wilson's cabinet and representatives of the Rockefeller, Morgan, Frick and Ryan interests. He explained that he was trying to raise a $100,000,000 loan for General Carranza, which would be used to colonize Mexicans on government land, train them in agriculture and give each man 2,500 hectares of land after three years military service.

"Carranza is weak only because of lack of money," said Dominguez. His government would be stable, with plenty of money behind it. The Villistas are fighting only for a livelihood, not for love of the bandit, and if Carranza had money for the agrarian project all the outlaws would lay down their arms."

Border Aviators Resume Flights

By KENT A. HUNTER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, N. M., March 30.—Aviation dispatch service from the head of the American column in Mexico and the base at Columbus was resumed today after being abandoned for three days because of adverse climatic conditions.

Lieutenant Edgar Gorrel of the Aero Corps started south from here carrying mail for the soldiers, official dispatches and such luxuries as cigars and cigarettes. A number of the squad was expected to arrive from the south today with news of the operations.

The passage of that section of the army aeronautics has provided for two new high-powered planes at once was highly gratifying to the members of the flying squadron here.

Cavalrymen Sent to Brownsville.

By International News Service.

Washington, March 30.—The third squadron of the Third U. S. Cavalry has been sent from Fort Sam Houston to Fort Ringold, in the Brownsville district, according to a report to the War Department today by General Funston. This action was taken because of reports that bandits again were operating in the Brownsville section.

Diaz Heads Revolt Against Carranza

Washington, March 30.—General Felix Diaz, nephew of the former President of Mexico, has landed on Mexican soil at the head of a revolutionary expedition which is planning to carry forward immediately plans for a revolution against the Carranza government. The Diaz expedition landed last week at a point near the boundary line between the States of Tabasco and Campeche.

STOPS FALLING HAIR

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:

Bay Rum..... 1 oz.
Barbo Compound..... a small box
Glycerine..... ¼ oz.

These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix them yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half-pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out and relieves itching and scalp diseases.

Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

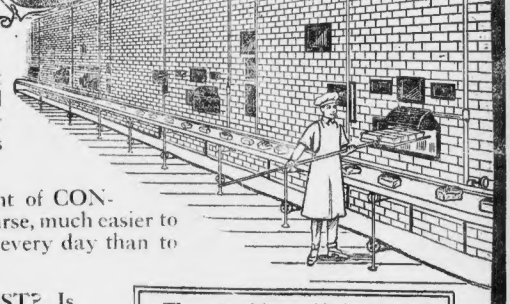
The Cost of Home-Baked vs. Bakers' Bread



FROM the standpoint of PURITY, bread baked in a modern New England bakery stands supreme.

From the standpoint of CONVENIENCE it is, of course, much easier to get bakers' bread fresh every day than to bake at home.

How about the COST? Is there a money saving in home baking to offset the undesirability of mixing and kneading bread by hand and the inconvenience involved?

Figuring in materials at the present market prices—flour as if bought by the barrel, shortening, salt, yeast and other materials—together with the time involved in baking, a loaf of bakers' bread which you can buy for ten cents, costs more than that amount to bake at home—making no allowance for the extra fuel which you may use or for loaves spoiled in baking.

You can actually save money by getting bakers' bread instead of baking at home—and the modern bakers' bread will be a product as pure as human science, skill and constant care can make it.

The Huge Ovens — One of the great sights in a bakery is the row of ovens where thousands of loaves are baked at once. The heat is kept always the same, so that every loaf is baked thoroughly and evenly, inside and out.

ROOSEVELT ATTACK ON WILSON REGARDED AS FIRST GUN IN CAMPAIGN FOR PRESIDENT

By International News Service.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., March 30.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt is now regarded as an avowed candidate for President, following his bitter denunciation of President Wilson, in which he charged that by the policies adopted in treating with Mexico, preparedness and the European war, the administration had placed this country in an infamous position and had courted the "possibility of the most terrible disgrace and disaster in the future."

Arguing on what he termed the President's "utterly baseless" intimations that sinister influences were at work in Mexico to bring about armed intervention, the Colonel put the issue squarely in the form of a challenge for the President to answer a series of questions about the Mexican situation. He accused the President and his subordinates of being "woefully to blame" for the situation now confronting the country.

CAMPAIGN'S OPENING GUN.

Coming as it did after a series of political conferences with leaders of the Progressive and Republican parties in some of the principal Republican strongholds, the last of which was held with Congressman Gardner of Massachusetts, but one interpretation was placed on the Colonel's statement by politicians.

It was looked upon frankly as the opening gun in a campaign to awaken the country in an effort to bring about the overthrow of the Wilson administration and the selection of Roosevelt.

The Roosevelt adherents were in an enthusiastic frame of mind because the Colonel, by his statement, had taken this first step as the leader in such a fight for military preparedness and it left no doubt on their minds that Roosevelt would be ready to accept a nomination and go into a strenuous political campaign if they could bring about his selection by the Republican and Progressive national conventions on June 7 as the standard bearer.

APPEALS TO "HEROIC MOOD."

Colonel Roosevelt's statement came after he had been told repeatedly by his adherents that the country had in the utmost something of the heroic, the condition he imposed in his Trinidad statement, if he were to head the fight against Mr. Wilson. They told him that Republican and Progressive voters were demanding his return to the White House. He was the man to lead the fight, they told him.

The statement issued by the Colonel was taken by them as the best evidence that there would be no further doubt as to his position and that the campaign was on.

Colonel Roosevelt was more bitter in his attack on Mr. Wilson than on former occasions, and he referred with sarcasm to what he termed the inability of this nation to cope even with a small force of bandits.

He picked to pieces some of the utterances of the President and scornfully censured him of weakness and inefficiency.

The statement follows:

I have received many requests from good American citizens in Mexico, asking if there is not some way by which the American people can be made to understand the utterly baseless character of President Wilson's recent charge that American property owners in Mexico were responsible for stirring up the trouble therein. All that is necessary is to ask President Wilson to answer these perfectly simple questions:

What American or other property owners in Mexico secured the killing of the 278 Americans who have been killed by Mexicans?

Does Mr. Wilson mean that it was American property owners who inspired him to permit the shipping to the Villistas of thousands of rifles and munitions of war which they have now used to kill our people?

Does Mr. Wilson mean that American property owners inspired his then friends, the Villistas, and Carrancistas shooting across our border on different occasions, to kill on our own soil nine American soldiers and wound many others?

SLAIN AMERICANS TOTAL 57.

Does Mr. Wilson mean that it was the owners of property in Mexico, native or foreign, who inspired the Villistas and Carranzistas in repeated affrays at Naco by shooting over the line into American territory to kill and wound all told some fifty-seven Americans, including American women, American soldiers in the American uniform, and the American collector of customs?

Does Mr. Wilson mean that it was the owners of property in Mexico who secured the attack on American and other foreign men and women and children at Tampico, and secured also the direction by President Wilson and Secretary Daniels to the American war vessels at Tampico to steam away and leave German and English vessels to protect the American civilians to whom Mr. Wilson had denied the protection of the Stars and Stripes?

Does Mr. Wilson mean that property owners in Mexico were responsible for his alternately placing and lifting the embargo on the export of arms and munitions to Mexico until every bandit who wished arms with which to shoot Americans had them?

Does Mr. Wilson mean that these property owners got him to go to war by taking Vera Cruz after fighting in which several hundred Americans and Mexicans lost their lives, this war being entered into for the purpose of getting the flag saluted, and then abandoned by Mr. Wilson without getting it saluted?

SCORES PRESIDENT WILSON.

For three years there has been murderous anarchy in Mexico, frightful destruction of property, frightful destruction of life, nameless infamies committed on women, and every element making for law and order systematically hunted down and destroyed, or driven out of the country.

Mr. Wilson, through these three years, has actively interfered in Mexico, and throughout the time he has consistently interfered on behalf of some representative of banditry or the forces of anarchy. He has done everything he could against, or in disregard of, the men who represent the only chance to get peace and orderly liberty for the Mexican people.

He is now engaged in a second war in Mexico. He is waging a war against Villa, with whom but a little more than a year ago he conducted what was in effect a treaty of peace and friendship formally entered into through one of the highest officers of the United States army, General Scott, by President Wilson's direction.

Photographs of General Villa and General Scott, and of the other participants in this extraordinary bit of treaty making were published broadcast throughout the press.

WANTS PEACE IN MEXICO.

I most earnestly wish peace in Mexico and with Mexico, and every step Mr. Wilson has taken with regard to Mexico for the last three years has tended to make peace impossible.

The great war in Europe has now been waged for twenty months. Mexican armed forces have been killing and wounding Americans at intervals for five years, yet during the Presidency of Wilson our government has failed to make the smallest measure of preparedness.

As regards Mexico, our government apparently believed it could insure peace by frightful first one and then another among the warring chiefs of banditry, and now it is endeavoring to prop up Carranza against its former favorite, Villa.

In his message to Congress of December, 1914, President Wilson asserted we were thoroughly prepared to defend our rights, and that it was hysterical and panicky to talk of the need of further preparedness. He has since forced out of the Cabinet a Secretary of War, because the President would not back, even the small and insufficient measures of preparedness which the Secretary of War advocated.

LAYS BLAME ON WILSON.

In consequence, as Mr. Wilson himself said in one of his speeches last February, he has been exposed to the annihilation of being unable to patrol our own borders to protect it against bandits. We broke down completely even in the preparedness necessary for the minute expedition that has gone into Mexico. Our aeroplane service went to pieces just as previously our submarine service had gone to pieces. The army and navy officers are not to the least to blame, but the President and his subordinates, whose actions for the last three years have caused these calamities, are woefully to blame.

Our troops are now three hundred miles in Mexico and it is announced that the government is trying to buy automobile trucks for them in Michigan.

The President is right to use the word humiliation. It is that and more than that for the American people, and it represents ghastly misconduct on the part of our governmental officials in the past three years.

If there is this complete breakdown on the part of the government of this great and wealthy nation of 100,000,000 inhabitants in dealing with a bandit raid, think of the hideous disaster that would befall us under such a government if we were menaced by a serious foe.

FACE DISASTER IN FUTURE.

Immediately after the sinking of the Lusitania, President Wilson made his famous speech about our being too proud to fight. A few days later, on May 27, as reported in the New York Times, he explained that he was not willing to speak about patriotism at Independence Hall at Philadelphia, on July 5, saying: "This is perhaps the very time when I would not care to arouse the sentiment of patriotism."

The other day in his speech at the Gridiron Club, he was reported as saying that he would be as much "ashamed" of being such an act of being cowardly—which stands on an exact par with a statement by a woman that she would be as ashamed of being quick-tempered as of being unchaste.

These three sentences are, equivalent to the statement that patriotism is sometimes a dangerous virtue and cowardice a venial vice. A nation whose official heads conduct its foreign affairs and handle its army and navy in accordance with these principles, will encounter such experiences as this nation has encountered during the last three years, and will earn for itself the possibility of the most terrible disgrace and disaster in the future.

Obregon Says U. S. 'Is Alone Responsible'

By H. H. STANSBURY.

El Paso, March 30.—A new cloud has appeared over the Mexican horizon in the form of a statement from Alvaro Obregon, minister of war in the cabinet of the de facto government. It censures the United States for its attitude toward the recognized situation and the border issues.

The gist of the statement that is relevant for the first time the official attitude toward the United States of one of the most powerful men in Mexico, Obregon said:

"The United States government alone is responsible for the trouble along the border. Had President Wilson refused to allow the Mexican refugees to settle in El Paso and other border points there would have been no trouble.

"The United States government has refused repeatedly to turn over to me Villa aides and former federal officers who are on the American side of the border. If it had I would have executed many of them.

"Conditions have prevented the recent trouble. There are armies and navies of Mexicans in the United States, enemies of the de facto government, who should be turned over to be dealt with.

"Our Mexican State Department officials have been hampered in their task.

"Obregon chief complaint appears to be that he has been deprived of several private soldiers, which unofficially he would have enlisted.

The success of the Pershing expedition will hinge upon the problem of communication. The advance of the troops will require many miles of telegraph line. This information was contained in a report from Gen. Funston, which has been transmitted to the War Department.

Another great problem that must be met involves protection to the supply trains from Mexico bandits. An official of the Northwestern road said that all automobiles arranged by that road for service in the Philippines were carried in the send and were fired upon. Hits of trading are marked "not responsible for loss or damage."

WAS TOLD HE HAD LEAD POISONING

Bernard L. Noyes of No. 5 Hanson St., Boston Painter, Was in a Very Critical Condition.

When a patient says, "My food does not agree with me, it pours sour in my stomach, I have no appetite and I have to be very careful about what I eat," it is dyspepsia. Plant Juice is giving wonderful results to thousands of sufferers of stomach, liver and kidney trouble. Many people call daily at the headquarters of the Plant Juice Man, full of gratitude to thank him for what his remedy has done for them.

The following signed testimonial was recently made by Mr. Bernard L. Noyes, No. 5 Hanson Street, who is a painter by trade and well known in this city, where he has many friends, having lived here for the past 25 years. He stated:

"For some time I had suffered from what is known in my trade as 'Painter's Colic,' and for the past eight years my stomach has been in a very bad condition and all the medicines I had tried did not seem to do me any good. I had spent hundreds of dollars trying to get well. My food soured in my stomach and caused gas. I had headaches, was very dizzy at times and my stomach was all bloated. I suffered intense agony after eating and could hardly keep anything in my stomach. I had shortness of breath and palpitation of the heart. I was so nervous I could not sleep and would lie awake for hours at a time. I was told that I had lead poisoning and kept getting worse and worse until I had lost all hope of obtaining relief. I was afraid I would have to give up work altogether, when a friend told me of Plant Juice and I began to take it. The change in me was certainly wonderful, as it has put my stomach in fine shape. I can eat any kind of food and it agrees with me. I sleep well and have no more aches or pains. I cannot say enough in praise of Plant Juice."

The Plant Juice Man is at the Drug Department of the Houghton & Dutton Co.'s store, where he is daily meeting the local public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.—Advertisement.

SENATE BEGINS GASOLINE INQUIRY

By International News Service.

Washington, March 30.—A resolution directing the Attorney-General to investigate the Standard Oil company to ascertain whether the rapid rise in gasoline prices is the result of a violation of the anti-trust law by that corporation was introduced in the Senate today by Senator Martine of New Jersey and adopted.

By a vote of 35 to 22, the Senate in effect declared the Standard Oil Company a monopoly in control of the gasoline supply. It rejected a motion by Senator Gallinger, minority leader, to table the preamble of Martine's resolution, declaring "it is well known that the gasoline market is controlled by a monopoly, namely, the Standard Oil Company."

The Martine resolution was then adopted without objection.

SECRETARY TO T. R. TO FIGHT JAIL TERM

New York, March 30.—John W. McGrath, private secretary to Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, was not taken to Blackwell's Island to begin serving a thirty-day sentence imposed by the Court in Brooklyn. However, he spent a day in a cell in the Raymond street Jail.

Upon application of Mr. McGrath's lawyer, Justice Stapleton issued an order to show cause why a certificate of reasonable doubt should not be issued. It acted as a stay of sentence and is returnable in Supreme Court tomorrow. John J. Halpin, Mr. McGrath's attorney, after visiting the prisoner said:

"Mr. McGrath has asked Warden Hayes as a special favor not to admit any one to see him. He has asked that reporters be kept away. The case has been in the limelight enough already."

SCHOOLS MUST FIT MORE GIRLS FOR TRADES

The sixth instalment of the educational experts' report on the Boston public school system, issued today, deals with "Vocational Needs of Boston Children" and finds that the numbers of children prepared for trade and commerce are nearly sufficient to meet the demand, but there is a deficiency in the supply of girls for manufacturing and mechanical purposes and for domestic and personal service. The report recommends an increase in pre-vocational training.

The sixth instalment consists largely of tables on "gainful occupations." An interesting item in the discussion on these tables reads:

"Practically two-thirds of the women in Boston are not occupied as wage-earners. This matter must be considered when we come to attempt the distribution of vocational training among girls at school."

The experts reach the following conclusions:

"We find that there is a deficiency in the supply of girls for manufacturing and mechanical industries. The numbers that should be prepared for trade and commerce are nearly sufficient to meet the demands. The number trained for occupation in domestic and personal service is almost negligible, in comparison with the excessively large number needed. The number receiving training toward professional vocations is only about one-fourth greater than the demand.

"The continuation school during the year 1914-1915 gave help for immediate needs to 1,155 girls; besides this, it is well known that a large number received, in connection with their regular work in the elementary schools, valuable training in the rudiments of domestic science and arts.

"In conclusion it may be deduced that the schools of Boston are already providing a large number of boys and girls with vocational education that will enable them to enter the occupations found in their own city and in other cities. It is evident that there should be a large increase in the numbers to receive training for the manufacturing and mechanical industries.

"In this connection probably the most important point is that many pupils leave the elementary schools without any vocational training. This indicates that there should be an increase in pre-vocational training. There is an undoubted deficiency in the number adequately prepared for domestic and personal service. The importance of proper preparation in this branch is as great for the home as it is for many paid services. There is an excess in the number of boys and girls taking vocational work leading to professional life; there is every indication that a large portion of them will not find need or opening for their services."

TRACY PUTNAM ON "PREPAREDNESS"

Tracy Putnam, Harvard '15, who has just returned from the ambulance corps service in France made a strong appeal today before the Woman's Aid of the National Security League for preparedness. He has been decorated with the Croix de Guerre medal by the French government.

"If there is anything that must be impressed upon the American people, it is this matter of preparedness," he said. "France is doing so well because she was prepared for this terrible war. What you admire in that country is its organization, which is the result of thorough training and preparation."

SOCONY KEROSENE

The most serious danger for the present is that the New England coal supply may be so curtailed as to bring downright hardship upon those who have not enough on hand to last them through the winter. For this reason it is the exceptional consumer who has a sufficiency of coal in the bins at this time, so that practically all the people on this side of the Hudson river are threatened with the shortage except in so far as relief may come by water.

The situation has become so grave that it should be looked into without delay by the public authorities with a view to assist the railroads to escape from the confusion without causing widespread distress.

—HEATS YOUR HOME
—COOKS YOUR FOOD
—LIGHTS YOUR HOME
and SAVES YOUR MONEY

No need of worrying about coal supply or coal bills.

SOCONY Kerosene in a Perfection Heater keeps a room warm all day for a few cents—portable, always ready heat—whenever and wherever you need it.

SOCONY Kerosene in a New Perfection Cookstove cooks the family meals for six for about three cents a meal.

SOCONY Kerosene in lamps means clear, mellow, smokeless light.

Why pay high prices—when SOCONY Kerosene saves money and labor? No coal, wood or ashes to bother with.

But be sure you get SOCONY.

It is clean and pure, burns without smoke, odor or wick crust.

Remember the name SOCONY and look for the grocer whose store shows the SOCONY sign.

SAFEST and BEST

BOSTON & MAINE HYDRANT SYSTEM PROTESTED BY GRADY

Fire Commissioner John Grady said today that the Boston & Maine Railroad's custom of shutting off hydrant water in its freight yards was highly dangerous, that water was not turned on in yard hydrants and pipes until ten minutes after the start of the fire which did $250,000 damage in the North End freight yard last Monday, and that he had forwarded a written protest to Mayor Curley.

F. W. Beckman, Boston & Maine freight agent, said that the water was in the yard pipes when the Bremen arrived, but there might have been some hydrant that did not work. The water is turned off in Winter to avoid freezing, the agent declares, but men are stationed at the water gate to turn on the water in case of fire.

But Fire Commissioner Grady's view of the freight yard water service is as follows.

"The custom of cutting off the water in the Boston & Maine freight yards is highly dangerous. I have information from William Gordon and E. A. Hyde of the Boston & Maine road to the effect that they did not turn on the water until ten minutes after the fire started.

SAME TROUBLE BEFORE.

"It was several minutes after the before engines using company hydrants in the freight yards got any water. We have had the same trouble before. This was in 1913 when the same house burned. At that time I was district chief and called attention to this dangerous state of affairs.

"This delay in getting water gave the fire a chance to spread quickly. If it had been a windy day there is no doubt that several other freight houses would have burned and perhaps the whole yards might have been swept. I am today forwarding to the Mayor a letter protesting against this state of affairs."

Public Works Commissioner Murphy said: "As soon as I heard the complaints to the effect the water was turned off, I called representatives of the Water Department before me and had made a thorough investigation into the situation. I found that the water was shut off only on command of trainmen.

"The water was shut off at a gate off Front street, near House 14. This is company property and is not under the jurisdiction of the city. I was informed that the reason for this was because some of the pipes were laid along piling and would freeze in Winter, and also because when the water was shut off the company did not have to pay for any water in these pipes. The danger of freezing could be easily obviated at small expense by insulating them or by other inexpensive methods.

LONG HOSE LINES.

"Owing to the fact there was no water in the freight yards, the only engines which could get water at the start of the fire were those engines drawing water from public hydrants located in public streets several thousand feet away.

Freight Agent Beckman said:

"The water was on and ready for the firemen. When they arrived water was in the yard mains. There may have been some hydrant that did not work right, but the water in all hydrants was turned on.

"You know in Winter the water is turned off to guard against freezing. But we always have men stationed at the head of the yard to turn the water on in case of fire. The men were at their stations last Monday and turned the water on as soon as they were signalled of the fire by the freight house.

"The firemen who responded to the fire did great work. They deserve great praise."

TWO MAY DIE FROM EXPLOSION HURTS

Two workmen were possibly fatally burned in an explosion of a gasoline torch with which they were working on oil boat 249, at the Fore River plant in Quincy.

The injured men were Angelo Bergoni, eighteen, a helper, and George Loftus, thirty-three, a shipfitter. Both sustained severe burns about the face and head, and Bergoni, in addition, was badly burned about the chest. Both men were taken to the Quincy Hospital.

ALPHONSO MARTIN DIES IN SOMERVILLE

Alphonso Martin of No. 21 Main street, Somerville, prominent Republican and Elk, and chairman of the publicity committee of the reception and ball to Governor McCall which is to be given at the Somerville High school tonight, died early today of apoplexy at his home. He had attended a meeting to plan final details of the ball last night, and was apparently in good health. His mother, widow and four sons survive him.

SINGER IN JOHN D.'S CHURCH WINS SUIT

New York, March 30.—Miss Edith Magee, former soprano soloist in the Fifth Avenue Baptist Church, where John D. Rockefeller is a communicant, obtained a verdict of $750 against Horace W. Fish, chairman of the music committee of the church. Miss Magee sued that Fish led her to believe she would be re-engaged for the 1914-1915 season, but later declined to engage her for that time. Dr. Harry R. Shelby, organist in the church, alleges the same thing in an action which he has filed against Fish for loss of salary.

PUTS BLAME FOR WRECK ON BAD SIGNALS

blame on me in this affair I shall make affidavit to what I knew of signal failures in the past on this and other roads," said Ernst. "It was not I who stopped the first section of train No. 88.

"A signal failure caused that first section to be brought to a standstill and made the wreck possible.

"Doubtless the same broken circuit of crossed control wires which brought the first section to a stop gave the second section a clear path to crash into the first.

"As the lever man in the Amherst tower I have no desire to dodge blame if there had been any reason for doing it, but there was none.

"At 7:04 p. m. the signal boxman reported the first section of No. 88 at Vermilion. It generally takes from eight to nine minutes for the train to reach my tower from there, so I was on the lookout for it.

"When it approached the signal block two miles from the home block near my tower I threw lever No. 10 into the clear.

HEARD ENGINE WHISTLE.

"Of course, I expected that No. 86 would speed along through. But I knew the first section had stopped near the home block was when I heard four sharp, short, shrill blasts from the engine, indicating the engineer was waiting for a signal.

"I took a quick glance at my indicator and saw that instead of it showing the home signal block to be clear, it indicated it was flashing red and had stopped the train.

"I realized there had been a signal failure. Lever No. 49 was still in the clear track position, for, as I had thrown it, I looked out of the window for the headlight of the engine, but by the time my eye reached it could see nothing.

"When I realized the signal failure I threw lever No. 49 over into the clear again as hard as I could, assumed in there and is evidently wrecked for First was standing up again.

"I didn't hear the crash when the trains came together. If I had I certainly would have tried to stop the mercury flow, but it would still only limited hit the wreckage of the first collision that I knew what had happened.

"Signals failures are not uncommon. Less than three weeks ago one of the automatic clocks near Amherst failed to work and showed a clear track when the section ahead was open and the train would have been derailed if the signal failure had not been detected in time.

SIGNALS ARE INTRICATE.

"Frequently the red arm of the signal block, indicating danger, drops down of itself, indicating a clear track when the reverse is produced. Thisarm should stand out horizontally from the semaphore when there is danger.

"The mechanism of the block signal system is intricate and complicated. There are any number of things like dirt and dampness that interfere with the electric wiring along the tracks that control the signals. When signals go bad it sometimes taken several days to repair them."

Ernst declared that his wife's illness did not interfere with his usual rest and that he was fully awake before and at the time of the accident.

With service practically restored to normal following yesterday's collision on the Lake Shore Railroad at Amherst, the total number of known dead stands at twenty-seven.

The death toll may be added to within the next few hours. Physicians at Memorial Hospital, Elyria, said Frank Keller of Chicago could scarcely live throughout the day.

After a long grind the 250 Lake Shore workmen hurried to the scene of the wreck where the famous Twentieth Century Limited plowed through the last two coaches of the first section of No. 86 after they had been splintered and crumpled and tossed directly in the path of the limited, had four tracks open today.

Heaped about the scene of the crash were the wreck of the half-dozen coaches, most of them broken into splinters. With no hope of salvage, New York Central officials were preparing today to fire the heap. But the flames will not consume the bundles of clothing, cards, baggage and other possessions of the unidentified dead—every scrap will be preserved in the hope that some of it may identify the unknown dead.

BLAME MAN FAILURE.

Joint investigation by the Federal, State and railroad officials were started for the purpose of fixing the blame.

That it was a case of man failure rather than imperfect mechanical devices has been positively asserted by officials of the New York Central lines who made a minute examination of the signal system at the Amherst tower which held the first section of train 88, while the second section crashed in, headlong, scattering wreckage and human beings in the path of the swift-rushing Twentieth Century Limited, which completed the work of death and destruction.

Engineer D. W. Leonard of the first section of train 86 asserts he stopped his train on a signal originating in Ernst's tower. Engineer Hess declares he saw no signal when he brought his section booming along at a fifty-mile clip about three minutes later.

Statements of the telegraphers who are on the verge of a strike that threatened Ernst, who A. E. Ingalls, general superintendent of the New York Central, hiked quickly responded to his is a green man having been broken in as a precaution against the threatened strike, were dispelled today. Railroad officials declare that Ernst has been on the Lake Shore's payroll twelve years.

RAILROAD WASHOUTS AT ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Rochester, N. Y., March 30.—The Genesee river continued to rise today and at noon the water was within a few inches of the flood mark reached by the freshet of 1913.

Cellars of buildings which skirt the river are flooded.

A washout on the Erie railroad between this city and Avon has tied up traffic and service on several branch lines up the valley has been suspended.

MANY INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK AT LACONIA

Laconia, N. H., March 30.—A number of persons, including several prominent people, were injured when three cars on Boston & Maine train No. 60, from Woodsville to Boston, were derailed just outside this city about 8:30 today.

A switch is said to have shifted as the smoker on the train was passing over it, derailing that car and two day coaches, containing about 150 passengers in all.

The cars tipped at an angle of about 45 degrees, but as far as could be learned there were no serious injuries. The cause of the derailment was not explained.

The train, made up of an engine, baggage, mail and smoking cars, with two day coaches and a parlor car, left Boston at 8:30 a. m. for Montreal, where it was due at 11:40. After making a stop of fifty minutes the train pulled out through the yards. The engine, baggage and mail cars passed safely, but in some manner the second coach left the track in the meadow. The parlor car was not affected.

Among the slightly injured were Miss Grace Spaulding of Laconia, George Abbott of Laconia and Charles Marvel of Manchester.

The derailed cars crashed into several Western Union telegraph poles, breaking them off and pulling the wires out of the instruments. A wrecking train was sent for at Concord, and the Boston bound passengers were taken to Lakeport and transferred to other trains.

The smoking car was said to have turned completely over, according to later reports, the passengers being forced to climb out through the windows.

Among the passengers on the train were James E. French of Salem, a well-known politician who is a member of the Republican committee, and Dr. Mary Nutting, a prominent woman physician; Deputy Sheriff Dearborn Cooley, Marshall Blake, Forest Pryant, formerly of Boston, Miss Wilma Snow, Danvers, Mass., and Otis Philbrook.

CARDINAL ATTENDS O'NEIL FUNERAL

Major Curley, Cardinal O'Connell, together with many city officials and prominent business men, today attended the funeral services of Patrick O'Neil, father of Postmaster Thomas H. O'Neil, president of the Federal Trust Company, at Francis de Sales Church, Roxbury.

Solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated by Monsignor Joseph F. O'Connell, assisted by Rev. Francis J. O'Donnell of St. James Church, Rev. Harry Lacey, Rev. Bernard Cronin of St. Francis de Sales parish. Cardinal O'Connell was attended by Monsignor Michael J. Splaine. Burial of the deceased acted as pallbearers. Burial was at Holyhood Cemetery.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK

Try Grandmother's old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, for about 50 cents.

Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy and attractive.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Advertisement

DANIELS URGES NAVAL RESERVE SEAMEN OF U. S. TO INCLUDE ALL

By International News Service.

Washington, March 30.—A naval reserve that will include all kinds of seafaring Americans" was strongly advocated by Secretary of the Navy Daniels today. The secretary appeared before the House Naval Affairs Committee and vigorously defended his course as head of the navy. He appealed for appointments from civil life of experienced aviators to become officers, saying that three hundred are immediately needed.

In addition he declared that the navy should appoint thirty officers each years to its engineering corps to specialize.

"The American navy is the only big organization in the world that is not expanding," declared the secretary. "One of our greatest needs is the presence of a few great educators at Annapolis. Put at the naval academy just as great a professor of English as there is at Harvard or Princeton or any of our big universities and the benefits resulting will be great.

NO VOICE IN FACULTY.

No great educator will go there now because he is only elected from year to year and has no voice in the faculty. We couldn't get such a man for less than $6,000 a year, but I would favor paying $6,000 and get the right kind of an educator and the officers relieved from duty as instructors could be given duty that will be of greater benefit to the country."

The secretary declared that after existing shortages were filled from civil life Annapolis would be able to keep the fleet properly officered.

Secretary Daniels stated that in spite of the large percentage of reenlistments it was difficult to maintain the full quota of enlisted men. Only one out of six applicants is accepted because of the difficulty in getting the desired type, he acknowledged.

The secretary declared that experts differed on the question of having ships in reserve, some desiring all ships to be in commission continuously. When ships are undergoing lengthy repair periods, Mr. Daniels said, it is both demoralizing and costly to keep at the navy yard the full crew, and said this was the reason for the policy of keeping only a skeleton complement aboard.

EDUCATION DEFENDED.

The secretary recommended that without increasing the estimates the increase in the enlisted personnel be 15,000. He made a strong defence of his compulsory education plan for enlisted men. Since its inauguration the number of such men entering the Naval Academy had jumped very materially, he said.

"We can never have an efficient navy and a good navy," the secretary said, "until young men enlisted realize that if they have the ability they may become admirals."

The increase contemplated in the personnel would make necessary additional opportunities for advancement, he said.

Secretary Daniels strongly favored the reserve force of former navy men, proposed by Admiral Blue. A "Class B" reserve of merchant sailors was urged, and a third class of men fitted to serve in the naval establishment on shore. A fourth class of reserves for harbor defence vessels, and a fifth class—volunteer reserves—were advocated. The latter would be composed of men of the trades, engineers and the like.

Answering the critics of the present system of control of the naval establishment, Secretary Daniels read a statement showing that control of the English and German navy is vested in a civilian, in spite of the existence of a general staff.

NOT A PARTICLE OF DANDRUFF OR A FALLING HAIR

Save your hair! Double its beauty in just a few moments.

25-cent "Danderine" makes hair thick, glossy, wavy and beautiful.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you can see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton' Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you just try a little Danderine.—Advertisement.

'CASCARETS' FOR YOUR BOWELS IF HEADACHY, SICK

For biliousness, bad breath, colds, indigestion and constipation.

Enjoy life! Liven your liver and bowels tonight and feel fine.

Your tongue is coated! Look inside your watch cover and see. That's bad business. What have you been eating? What were you drinking? What kind of a lazy chair did you take exercise in? Now don't think it doesn't matter because it's your bowels that talk now every time you open your mouth. That doesn't help your popularity, nor your earning capacity. Besides, a person with bad bowels is in a bad way, and a coated tongue or a bad breath are sure signs of bad bowels and poor digestion.

Why don't you get a 10-cent box of Cascarets at any drug store and give your liver and thirty feet of bowels the nicest, gentlest cleansing they ever experienced? Take one or two Cascarets tonight and wake up feeling fine and fit. All Headache, Dullness, Biliousness, Bad Breath, Stomach Sourness, Cold and Constipation gone—wake up with your head clear, tongue clean, stomach sweet, liver and bowels active, step elastic and complexion rosy.

Cascarets work while you sleep—never gripe or sicken—Cascarets act so gently that you hardly realize you have taken a thorough cathartic. They don't bother you all next day like salts, pills, oil or calomel—Cascarets being perfectly harmless is best children's laxative.—Advertisement.

HEAD STUFFED FROM CATARRH OR A COLD

Says Cream Applied in Nostrils Opens Air Passages Right Up.

Instant relief—no waiting. Your clogged nostrils open right up; the air passages of your head clear and you can breathe freely. No more hawking, snuffling, blowing, headache, dryness. No struggling for breath at night; your cold or catarrh disappears.

Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from your druggist now. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic, healing cream in your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage of the head, soothes the inflamed or swollen mucous membrane and relief comes instantly.

It's just fine. Don't stay stuffed-up with a cold or nasty catarrh.—Advertisement.

WOMAN PRESERVES APPLE 48 YEARS

By International News Service.

Philadelphia, March 30.—The record of Mrs. Margaret Bischoff of York, in preserving an apple for twenty-nine years, has been exceeded by Mrs. Ida Cooper of this city. The Philadelphia woman claims the world's record.

Mrs. Cooper has an apple that is forty-eight years old, she says. It was given to her when she was five years old by her mother. It is in a state of splendid preservation, due, it is said, to cloves, with which the apple was stuck full.

WILL PROVIDING FOR PETS REJECTED

Montpelier, Vt., March 30.—Alvin P. Cummings, before he died, wrote a will leaving $25 to care for his pet cat and giving his pet dog, Spot, to a friend, with the proviso that: "I will hound any one ill-treating my poor little Spot, and cuss him to the end of time." The Probate Court has disposed of the will because it was not properly witnessed.

44 PUPILS QUIT NEWPORT, ME., CLASS

Newport Me., March 30.—Forty-four out of fifty-five students at the High School here have gone on strike as a protest against the displacement of Principal Carl R. Partington and the installation of H. R. Robinson. Partington has been asked to resign. His friends say it was because he took a part in town politics.

GUEST IS ROBBED AT PARKER HOUSE

In the absence of William J. McKenna, of Honeoye Falls, from his room in the Parker House, thieves entered and made off with personal property valued at $200. When Mr. McKenna went out he left one of the windows open. It is thought that a thief effected an entrance by standing on the shoulders of a companion.

WAREHAM FIRE CHIEF KILLS SELF

Wareham, March 30.—George Barnes, fifty-two, chief of the Fire Department and former town official, was found dead in a small shanty on the Warr estate here. His throat was cut and near the body was a pocketknife. Medical Examiner C. E. Morse says that Barnes committed suicide.

London, March 30.—The government has decided, after consultation with the other allied governments to allow the Belgian Relief Commission to charter German ships in neutral port to carry relief supplies to Belgium.

Suicide Found Near Bridgeport May Be Crones

By International News Service.

Bridgeport, Ct., March 30.—That Jean Crones, Chicago poisoner, may be the mysterious suicide whose body was found hanging to a tree in a lonely section of Milford last Saturday, is the theory on which Bridgeport and Milford authorities are working today.

Measurements, features, weight and appearance, with the exception of the hair and a slight discrepancy in the color of the eyes, tally with the description of Crones.

Tired? Perhaps It's Pellagra and Not Spring Fever

Spring fever is not always Spring fever, according to a circular of information issued today by the United States Public Health Service.

Those persons who suffer from a tired feeling, with "a disinclination to undertake the ordinary daily tasks," had better beware, for these may be the preliminary symptoms of pellagra, and not Spring fever, according to the circular.

Pellagra, which is generally due to a faulty or restricted diet at this season of the year, in most cases is not in evidence until June or July. Among the warning symptoms are extreme nervousness or change in the mental characteristics of the individual, weakness or debility, and unexplained digestive symptoms.

Eight thousand persons died from pellagra last year.

Stowaway Tells of Heroism of Boston Nurse

The heroic work being done by American nurses in the war zone across the water, especially that of a Boston nurse, Miss Charlotte Eaton, was today related by a deserter from the British army, who gave the name of Robert Daly, a stowaway aboard the liner Colonian, which arrived in port today.

He claims that Miss Eaton cared for him several days while he was an inmate of an American hospital. He also told of his thrilling experiences during the siege at Neuve Chappelle, at which place he stated only twenty men out of 1,190 were saved after a three-day conflict.

He was allowed to land by the immigration officials. Aboard the same ship were Donald McDonald of Malden and Francis Moran of Matlapan, both stowaways. They sought adventure, but stated that conditions were not to their liking.

AMERICAN STEAMER TAMPICO DAMAGED

London, March 30.—A Lloyd's dispatch from Mozlodo, Peru, announces that the American steamer Tampico has arrived there badly damaged. The Tampico sailed from Portland, Ore.

ACCUSE MAN OF IMPERSONATING U. S. DEPUTY

Albert E. Andrews, a detective with offices on lower Tremont street, was held by United States Commissioner Hayes today for the federal grand jury on a charge of impersonating a United States deputy marshal for the purpose of securing the arrest of an alleged deserter.

The man whose arrest Andrews is charged with securing is Donald Sleeper of the United States Signal Service Corps.

Sleeper was at the home of his mother, Mrs. Grace Sleeper, on Huntington avenue last christmas week to see his sick baby. He was taken from the house by two Boston policemen, accompanied by Andrews.

Ernest Sleeper, brother of Donald, complained to the federal authorities that Andrews represented himself as a deputy United States marshal. Andrews was arrested.

At the hearing two policemen testified that Andrews told them he was a deputy United States marshal and wished to have Sleeper arrested as a deserter. The patrolmen said they went to the house and took Sleeper out of bed and to the station house.

They testified that on the way to the station house Andrews said to them: "Now I'll take the prisoner the rest of the way, claim the $50 reward and divide with you, fifty-fifty." But the patrolmen took Sleeper to the station themselves and to the barracks at Charlestown Navy Yard the next day. There they found, they said, that Andrews had already put in claim for the reward.

Sleeper's case is pending. His mother testified that the family is trying to secure his release from the Signal Service.

GUILTY IN THEFT OF WOMAN'S GEMS

Michael Milano, forty, of Stirling street, lookkeeper, employed in a Roxbury hotel, was found guilty of the larceny of jewelry from Mrs. Mary Brown of Blue Hill avenue, Jamaica Plain, and sentenced to eight months in the House of Correction in the Roxbury Court, today. He appealed.

PUT STOMACH IN FINE CONDITION

Says Indigestion Results from an Excess of Hydrochloric Acid.

Undigested food delayed in the stomach decays, or, rather, ferments the same as food left in the open air, says a noted authority. He also tells us that indigestion is caused by Hyper-acidity, meaning there is an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach which prevents complete digestion and starts food fermentation. This everything called sours in the stomach, much like garbage sours in a can, forming acrid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. Then we feel a heavy, lumpy misery in the chest, we belch up gas, we eructate sour food or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast and drink while it is effervescing, and, furthermore, to continue this for a week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys, and thus promote a free flow of pure, digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.—Advertisement.

SOUTH END MAN SHOT WATCHING A FIGHT

Casimo Raffoni, twenty-four, of No. 24 Compton street is in the City Hospital with a bullet wound in his abdomen received early today while witnessing a fight between two men on Harrison avenue near Mott street. Surgeons at the hospital said today that the wound is not a serious one and that he will recover.

According to the story told by Raffoni to the police, he saw the two men fighting and heard a shot and felt the bullet strike him. He was unable to give any further details. The police are investigating the shooting.

SENATE SPEEDS UP ON THE ARMY BILL

Washington, March 30.—The Senate today put on speed to finish its debate over the Chamberlain army bill and bring the measure to a vote before the end of this week, or early next week.

Nearly every Senator has given notice of his intention of speaking on preparedness, but the opposition is so small that the passage of the measure will not be long delayed. Only two or three speeches are to be made against it.

The speech today was made by Senator Underwood of Alabama.

KINGMAN GOES WITH GREENLEAF FIRM

Lewis E. Kingman, who has for eight years directed the advertising of the Florence Manufacturing Company, Florence, makers of the Pro-phy-lac-tic tooth brush, has resigned his position and will on April 29 associate himself with the Greenleaf Company, advertising and merchandising counsellors of Boston.

No successor to Mr. Kingman has as yet been appointed by the Florence Manufacturing Company. For the present advertising matters will be looked after by William Cordes, general manager. Mr. Kingman's work in his new connection will be largely along service lines.

The Spirit of Boston Boys

They were spirited boys who demanded of General Gage their right to coast and make snowballs on the Boston Common. They were manly little chaps in those days whose sports were as simple as their manner of living. Bread was the universal food then as now and the children ate plenty of it.

It helped to endow them with a sturdiness of spirit, a clear mind and a healthy body. Children today should

DRUG HABIT STRIKES AT BASE OF DECENCY, SAYS SEDGWICK

Habit-forming drugs strike at the very vitals of the human system, undermine the foundations of morality, decency and social service, and are the cause of much immorality, declared Professor William T. Sedgwick of Boston at the annual public meeting of the New England Watch and Ward Society in the Twentieth Century club.

The speaker declared that the drug habit was a matter of public health and must be dealt with along the lines of prevention no less than cure.

"Among various good forms of life-tending to drug-taking would be first, they must not to certain habit-forming

ALMOST BALD WITH ECZEMA ON HEAD

Started with Blistery Pimples, Itched so Badly and Hurt so Was Almost Crazy.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"I had eczema which started with blistery pimples along the edge of my hair and went all over my head. It itched so badly and hurt so that I was almost crazy and I could not sleep and had to walk the floor at night. My hair all fell out and I was almost bald. I was in the house for two weeks.

"The trouble lasted about eight weeks and I had many treatments but they did not do any good. Then I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, and in a few days I saw little hair coming. Now I am entirely healed and have no marks of any kind." (Signed) A. Freneri, Plainville, Conn., July 29, 1915.

POWER OF PRESS

Editor Boston AMERICAN:

I am highly gratified at the stand which Mr. Hearst has taken in regard to the drink and drug evils, as set forth in his letter to the editors of his papers and published in the issue of March 29, 1916. It is a powerful appeal for public co-operation in the work, the result, the least of which will be economic, moral and social.

Many of the laws now on the statute books are good laws, but little or no attendance. I believe they still have a great influence.

LEONARD BETTING CHOICE

New York Lightweight Installed Favorite Over Welsh in Clash Tomorrow Night.

By ED CURLEY.

NEW YORK, March 30.—Freddie Welsh, world's lightweight champion, is very much peeved.

Fred is engaged to box Benny Leonard ten rounds tomorrow night at the Garden and all Freddie can bear is that Benny is favorite.

There have been very few bouts held in which the champion has to play second fiddle to the disgruntled little boy.

Welsh came out today with an ultimatum in which he urged that Leonard [illegible] over that boxing Welsh in far different than boxing other lightweights. As for that talk of Leonard stopping him, Welsh just scoffs, loud and long. Freddie also declares that if any stopping is to be done he will be the stopper.

DORIZAS UNBEATEN ON MAT IN YEARS

Philadelphia, March 30.—Mike Dorizas, Penn's heavyweight champion and star all-around athlete, made his last appearance at the Quaker institution the other night in the dual wrestling meet in which Cornell was defeated.

In his three years of intercollegiate wrestling Mike has never been thrown and never outpointed, and he lived up to his reputation in fine style.

BOXING BRIEFS and GOSSIP

GIDDY Dame Rumor has it strong that the I. M. A. A. is being organized and will get busy again commencing Friday night, April 7.

NEXT week's Hip show takes place Wednesday night, [illegible] finals at the I. M. A. A. The Pride A. A. [illegible] rendered by All-Star [illegible] ford New England [illegible] weight and Mr. [illegible] Mallen.

SHUBERT and Brown have already had several [illegible] to the New [illegible] pattern prelim [illegible] tussle, the best [illegible] mixed.

BOTH Shubert and Brown are glowing [illegible] tussle [illegible] ing carries [illegible] go the twelve-round [illegible] will scarcely have any [illegible] plaint should it have [illegible] ing, as even a short [illegible] mean oodles of action.

ARMORY A. A.'s faithful press agent gives it out that the rival bantamweights are going to come in at 118 pounds at 9 p. m. That's over the class limit. Hence, of course, the set-to cannot go down as a championship affair.

THE Hip's booking for April 11 is pretty well understood to be Walter Butler vs. Frankie Mack. It's a number the fans want to see, so great has been the rivalry between the two boys since they started in the game at Beachmont, and so exhilarating was their draw of a fortnight ago when Butler went on in place of Freddie Yelle and delivered so handsomely.

WE inadvertently stated Tuesday that Pat Owens shaded "Bill" Corbett in their special at the Riverside B. C. show. Pat didn't do anything of the kind and put him to rout and gained the award of the judges.

CORBETT has entered the National A. A. U. championships and is out to dethrone the pick of the out-of-town talent brought on to face him.

MEDFORD A. A. has a slashing good amateur show booked for Pitman Hall, on High street, tonight. Manager Johnny Irwin claims it will prove anything but a "flivver" and should not be missed by the fans. The battling in the 126-pound class should be especially [illegible], as Johnny Russo, the Somerville cyclone, is entered with several other live-wires.

JOE CONNOLLY, who had a big [illegible] Winter in amateur ranks, makes his bow as a professional at the Hip show. He has been booked to go on in the semi-windup with Al Reddy of Chelsea.

JACK SANDLER is out with a challenge to all the New England 115-pounders on behalf of Frankie Murphy. 'Tis Sandler's claim that Murphy, fresh back from a Western trip, is as good as they come in the bantamweight class.

"BILL" Gerstel, the Neponset amateur middleweight is especially anxious to meet Hon. "Bill" Casey in a special bout. Nothing will suit Gerstel better, he claims, than for both of them to turn pro and have it out at the Hip.

"CHICK" West, the Holyoke 142-pounder, writes the AMERICAN stating he wants to get on with Walter Butler. "Chick" claims he has the bunch he can stop Butler if the Revere boy will make from 138 to 142 pounds at 3 or 8 p. m.

WEST adds that his manager, P. E. Murray, is willing to post $100 with the AMERICAN for a match with Butler just as soon as Charley Deshler is heard from. West meets Eddie Dixon at Greenfield tomorrow night and hooks up with "Patsy" De Lucca at Augusta, Me., April 7. After that date "Chick" hopes to get a rise out of Butler.

RING RESULTS

New York, March 30—Jess Criscio of Milwaukee outpointed Joe Azzi at Madison Square Garden in every one of the ten rounds at the Pioneer Sporting Club. In the first round Criscio knocked McCoy through the ropes.

Providence, March 30—Frankie Madden of Memphis, Tenn., won from Jimmy Devine of this city in a rugged bout at Thornton Hall. Both were disqualified in the ninth round for [illegible] tactics. In the semi-final Johnny Wilson of Boston dropped Jack Doherty in the eighth round.

STARTING, 11

"No, Reginald," she said smiling, "no effort to conceal the sadness that was crushing her gradually. We must give it all up. I cannot be yours—at least not yet. Don't be angry with me, dear. Remember that it is as hard for me to put off my kind attentions as it can possibly be for you."

"But, Catherine," he cried making no effort as yet to pull himself together, "I don't understand. What do you mean? Nothing has happened. Your parents have given their consent. I have told you that I am sufficient to provide everything you may want. You know that I love you with all my heart and all my soul and you say you love me. Why do you say, then, we must give it all up? Why should we not enjoy the great happiness that can come to us, outside of which you are all my very own forever?"

"How can we expect to be really happy if we get married now? We have never had a great moment standing. You have never had reason to believe you had lost me. In all the great love stories and love plays there is some reason why the man thinks the girl is to love with some one else, or she believes him [illegible] he unworthy of her [illegible] something, until the very last, when they find out that it was all a terrible mistake, and then—ah, Reginald—and then their happiness is so great that, compared with ours, it would look like a $4,000 limousine beside [illegible]

"Never mind. I know what you mean. It's been a terrible moment right away, so that I will have come to fear that I have lost you. I am afraid you are going to have a red nose early in life, and don't you think, you ought to do something to stop that dark, downy growth on your upper lip?"

THE IRONY OF FATE.

"Danforth says that his wife never makes any attempt to regulate his habits. She never tells him when he lights a cigar that he is smoking too much, and she doesn't even tell him what kind of collars to wear."

"Isn't it a shame that a woman with such a disposition always happens to be plain!"

STRIKE LEADER AT RUTLAND TO GET HEARING

Joseph J. Garvey of Forest Hills, a former Yale law student who was forced to leave the Rutland State Sanatorium, where he was a patient, because of a food strike, will be given a hearing on his application for reinstatement Tuesday by the Board of Hospitals for consumptives.

Garvey's application was filed with Dr. John B. Hawes, secretary of the trustees, by Representative Michael P. Malone, author of a bill which would provide for a public investigation of the cause of the food strike.

Representative Malone says he was assured by Dr. Hawes that the trustees would hear Garvey's application.

Garvey, who recently lost, was a third-year law student at Yale when illness compelled him to abandon his studies. Malone says Garvey had been assured by physicians that a course of treatment at Rutland would restore to his physical condition and enable him to return to the New Haven university and complete his law training.

About seventy-five patients went on a strike to protest against the food. Their grievance was against the cooking.

The Committee on Public Institutions ascertained, during an unofficial investigation, that the conditions were not short of help at the time of the strike. As this condition is to be remedied, the demand for the hearing on Garvey's case was not pressed.

After the strike Garvey was asked to resign as a patient. He left the institution.

STOCKS AND INVESTMENTS

By W. H. ROSS, Financial Editor

Stocks were irregular at noon in both Boston and New York. During the first hour a recessional tendency developed on the latter market and continued until near the end of the morning, when there was rallying tendency as to prices. It was especially manifested in coppers. They ruled higher at midday. Trading was quiet throughout the forenoon. Among strongest issues at noon time were American Smelting. Railroads and zincs were rather weak.

Gains at 12 o'clock included Alaska Gold, 2; Allis-Chalmers, 1; Kennecott, ¾; American Smelting, 1⅜; American Locomotive, ⅛; Bethlehem Steel, 4 and Marine preferred, 1½; Studebaker, ⅛.

Among declines were Car & Foundry, ⅜; Baldwin Loco, 1¼; Mid-Continent, ⅜; Studebaker, ⅜; Mexican Petroleum, ⅜; Westinghouse, ⅜; Tennessee Copper, ⅜; American Zinc, ⅜; Mackay preferred, ½; U. S. Steel, ⅜; Baltimore & Ohio, ⅜; Canadian Pacific, ¼; Southern Pacific, ¼; N. Y. Central, ⅛; Reading, ⅜; Southern Pacific, ¼; St. Paul, ⅛; Union Pacific, ⅛.

Among unchanged issues were American Can and Crucible Steel.

The Boston curb was still narrow and dull at noon, with most issues showing a protest against the strike. There referred had been the strong oral feature during the morning.

Gains at midday included American Zinc, ⅛; Alliance L. Dwella 1¼ and Woolen preferred, ⅛.

Among declines were Alaska Gold, ⅛; Butte & Superior, 1; Calumet & Arizona, ½; Butte Coalition, ⅛; Hancock, ⅛; St. Mary's, ⅛; Mohawk, ⅛; U. S. Smelting, ⅛; United Shoe, ⅛ and Atlantic Gulf common, ⅛.

Among unchanged issues were Copper Range, Quincy, United Fruit and New Haven.

IRREGULAR AT OPENING.

Stocks were irregular at the opening in New York, but after the opening the trend was a little more definite. Price changes were fractional in all groups as a rule. A little later a decided tendency developed heretofore Marine preferred certificates. There was no material change in the list, however, compared with its close of yesterday. Trading was rather quiet and confined to dealings in low priced issues in operations they were under the restraint of the uncertainty which has existed all the week. Reports from Washington that the international situation is difficult, could be better, and so little is known as to what is going on in Mexico that the professional element are exceedingly conservative as to commitments. Large interests may be preparing to move stocks upon recessions, as is claimed, but that is apparently the only purpose they are rendering. The public is not participating to any appreciable extent.

ZINCS OPENED LOWER.

There was no change to prices in Boston at the opening, but the local market was not as strong comparatively as in New York. Price changes here were small and without significance in most instances. Since midday interest in the zinc issues has increased somewhat, however, and the tendency is rather better. Many issues have not changed.

The price of copper sold to France for May, June and July delivery are said to total from 24,000 to 26,000,000 pounds. Other sales of copper for delivery over has not been placed but are reported to be pending. Buying for third quarter delivery by domestic consumers is also reported. Business in the latter is not estimated at more than 30,000,000 pounds.

The Shameful Apostasy of the Massachusetts Republican Senate

THE Springfield Republican is a newspaper for whose editorial opinions the Boston AMERICAN has always entertained great respect. It is a quasi-public institution in America. It is very rare, if ever, that its editorial opinions are influenced by fear or favor. Among the intellectual class of New England it is one of the most potent publications. It is generally a Republican paper with independent leanings. Though published in a small and remote city of the Commonwealth, its circulation is widely disseminated, and its name is honored throughout the country.

We quote one of its editorials this week upon the shameful apostasy of the Massachusetts Republican Senate on the question of amending the constitution so that a progressive income tax might be levied.

It does seem a pity that the Republican party will never learn the lesson of the disastrous national election of 1912. These reactionaries seem as blind to prudence as those whom the gods would destroy. Here is Theodore Roosevelt booming largely on the horizon and the great mass of Progressives looking eagerly toward him for leadership, yet not even HIS approaching shadow seems able to inspire the stand-pat, corporation controlled crowd with ever so little decency and honesty.

The Springfield Republican, under the title "Invisible Government," says:

"The State Senate today may again expose the Republican party to the Democratic charge of 'invisible government,' flung up and down the Commonwealth last Fall by David I. Walsh with such campaign ardor. The question at issue is: Shall last Tuesday's vote killing the 'proportional' tax amendment be reversed? If it is not reversed, the old Democratic cry may be heard again, and it will not be without some justification, for it is a fact that little opposition to the amendment was disclosed until the very day of the slaughter.

"Last year the measure went through both branches of the Legislature by safe margins. The Senate vote was almost unanimous. This year hardly a whisper was heard against the amendment at the committee hearing. The House slid it along on greased ways to the Senate chamber. Inexplicable delays followed. Then came the deluge. Who was responsible? The suffering friends of the amendment point a finger to State Street and refer with disgust to the 'victory' dinner and theatre party the night after the Senate voted—a jollification in which Charles H. Innes, captain of the bank lobby, was most prominent.

"The fatal roll-call of Tuesday last stood 22 to 15. If the fifteen stand firm, an over-Sunday shift of five votes will save the amendment, one of the forty Senators being in a hospital and the president's vote being counted on to go against the amendment in case of a tie. The Senators regarded as holding the fate of the amendment in their hands went home Friday for new light. At least two are Westerners, and at least two others said they didn't know anything about the amendment when they voted. They have been carefully informed that Governor McCall considers the amendment essential to the success of the tax reform program which the Republican party has promised to the people."

Inefficiency on the Bay State Street Railway

THOSE who oppose the demanded increase of carfare on the Bay State Street Railway contend that a more efficient management could produce more net profit for that railroad. It is impossible for one to ride on its cars without observing, almost every day, some instance of uneconomical management.

Such an instance occurred on this street railway the other morning. It is not an unusual, but a very ordinary, occurrence between Lynn and the town of Swampscott. A car bound for Swampscott, at an hour when a delay means a cold dinner and an irritated wife, stopped at the car barn in Swampscott for a change of crew. It was held up almost five minutes while the crews disputed among themselves about taking that particular car. If there was anybody in authority at this car barn he was conspicuous by his absence.

It frequently happens in the two-mile stretch between Swampscott and the railroad station in Lynn that these unnecessary parleys between crews cause a whole carload of passengers to lose their train for Boston.

If this is happening in Lynn and Swampscott, it is occurring elsewhere on this wide-spreading system. Every minute that is wasted in the time of the crews spells a serious loss of net profit to the street railway. It loses the good will of the traveling public and helps to impair the morale and efficiency of the company.

Once-Overs

The other fellow has no corner on freakish ideas. You have your own allowance of them.

It's probable you think that because his opinions differ from yours he is not capable of weighing questions as well as you are.

This may be true, and you may be more than ordinarily bright. But you will find, sooner or later, that you are not so far superior to the men with whom you associate, and that they have as solid foundation for their opinions and ideas as you have.

Until he is proved inferior, give the other fellow the benefit of the doubt. It is not easy for you to rely solely on your own judgment. You are likely to be biased in your own favor.

A "swelled head" will get you into a lot of trouble, and you won't gain anything by its possession. In fact, if you could see all that is going on in the other fellow's mind you might be surprised to know what a boob he thinks you are. Give the credit and respect that you would wish to receive yourself and be on the safe side.

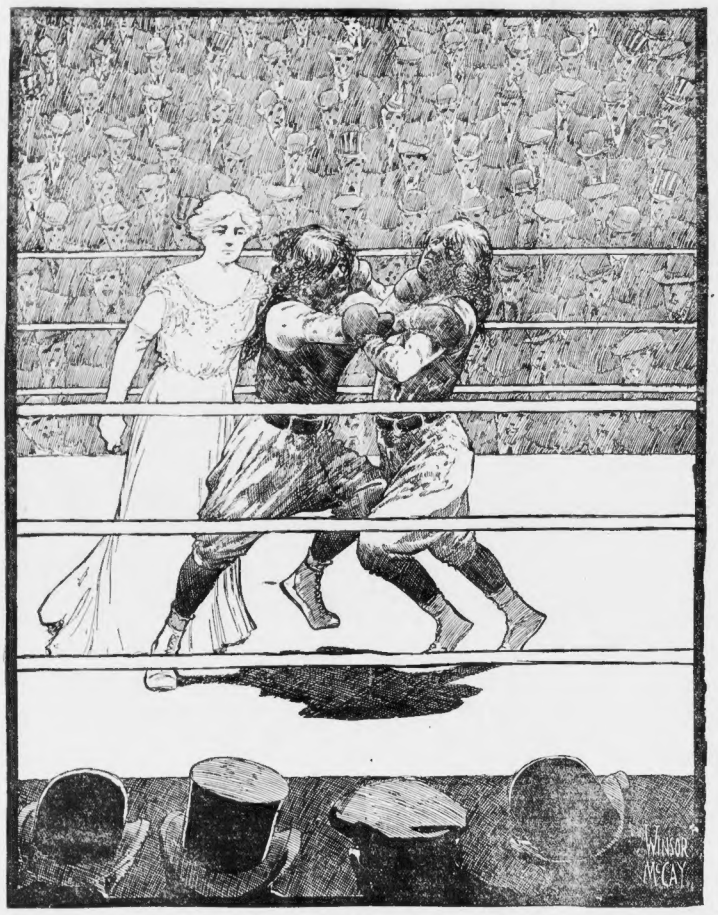
But If Women Enjoy Watching Prize Fights, Why Should They Not Enjoy Taking Part in Them?



By James J. Montague

WHERE is our wandering daughter tonight?
Seated right up by the ring
And her young eyes aflame with the joy of the game
As she watches 'em wallop and swing!
The flush of excitement grows hot in her cheeks
And hark to her gay little shout,
When a fist like a ham lands a finishing slam
And a big fellow groans and goes out!

The girls are all fighting fans lately.
Just go to the Garden some night,
You'll see 'em in bunches applauding the punches
And shouting "Aw! Stand up and fight!"
It's an outlet for innocent spirits,
A way to let youth have its fling.
And a slam on the snoot is "just perfectly cute"
Since the ladies uplifted the ring.

Baby, dear mother can't rock you to sleep,
She must dress herself up and go out,
For Young Harlem McQuidd and the Idaho Kid
Are due for a twenty-round bout!
She wants to put several bets down—
She'll make 'em in any amount.
And baby and she will be rich as can be
If the Idaho Kid takes the count.

They all are just crazy about it!
It's a sport that they simply adore!
With rapture they're thrilled when the claret is spilled
And loose teeth spat around on the floor.
Let father object all he wants to—
He's just a dull, horrid old thing.
There's no joy like the crunch of a punch to the lunch
Since the ladies uplifted the ring!

Inklings and Thinklings

Things no money can buy: Easy-to-put-on rubbers.

Good morning; has she proposed to you yet?

Los Angeles pastor advises young men not to marry a girl until they have been her in the surf. And then they won't.

Judging by the way most States treat their favorite sons, we'd hate to be an unfavored son.

New York Supreme Court justice bars a fishing club from using the name Tuppersby. Oh, well, it's a long way there.

Horrors of war: Hothouse strawberries now cost $2.50 a pound in London.

At that, these Mexican names are not such an improvement on Pruenyal.

In-Shoots

When a fellow cannot make a good speech it will always help some to "set 'em up again."

Lots of men who claim to have come from fine families appear to be a long way from home.

Silence may mean a lot of things. In the case of a woman it usually means that she is tired.

We always suspect that the enthusiasm of the girl standing in the crowd watching a score board has been stimulated.

A dog may take a prize at a bench show and not know enough to chase a rabbit.

Film-flamming the suckers has often been called "stealing the hearts of the people."

It is seldom that the average man has much energy left after serving his country in a fat office.

It takes an expert surveyor to locate a line fence in a way to satisfy both properly owners.

Under the decree on modern fashions we cannot call those unmentionables unlookables.

Any ordinary cuss can make a speech, but it takes a big man to fire oratory.

The stationary blush is never so attractive on the face of a girl as the one that occasionally fades.

The Awful Majesty of the Stars

Over Billions of Miles They Send Their Rays and Exert Their Power, and in Mighty Companies They Journey Eternally Through Measureless Voids of Space

By Garrett P. Serviss

"SINCE the whole solar system is going toward a point near Vega, and Vega is coming toward us, will that star exert any gravitational or temperatural influence over the world when it arrives in our proximity? Relatively to the moon's dimension, what will be the size of Vega when at its nearest approximation to us? Why do stars travel faster the older they are?—C. G. B., Allentown, Pa."

1.—If Newcomb's estimate of the position of the apex of the sun's motion, about 4 degrees from Vega, is substantially correct, then that star is, at the present moment, about fourteen times as far from us as it is, perpendicularly, from the path of the sun, extended in a straight line through space.

Supposing Vega either to stand fast and wait for us or to move in our direction along a line parallel to the track of the sun, it would, at its point of nearest approach, be about fourteen times nearer than it is now, and, since the intensity of light varies inversely as the square of the distance, Vega would then be 14x14, or 196 times as bright as Sirius, the most brilliant star now visible to us in the entire sky.

Its heat radiation and its gravitational influence upon the earth would be increased in the same ratio. But neither of the two last named effects would be noticeable, although it would be possible to measure with delicate instruments the amount of heat received from Vega, as, indeed, it is possible even at its present distance.

SUN CAN NEVER BECOME SATELLITE OF STAR VEGA.

But, in fact, the motion of Vega, although it has a large component directed toward us, is, as a whole, not parallel to the sun's path, so that it will never approach as close as the calculation above shows.

Even if it did the sun would not become its satellite, notwithstanding the fact that Vega is probably many times more massive than the sun. But very careful observations might show how much the sun was swayed from his steady course by the great star's attraction. Every star in the universe exerts some influence upon every other star. Many are united in close unions as doublets, triplets, quadruplets, etc., and many others form globular clusters, but our sun as yet is one of the virtually independent wanderers.

2—Even if Vega were at the nearest point above calculated, it would still be about 12,000,000,000,000 miles away, equal to 6,000,000 times its own diameter (giving the latter its highest probable value), so that its angular diameter to the eye would be only one-thirtieth of a second of arc, or less than 50,000th of the angular diameter of the moon. It would far outshine every other star, but yet it would be only a starry point of amazing brilliance.

3—The fact that the most swiftly-moving stars are the oldest is one of the newest discoveries of astronomy. The reason for it is obscure, but perhaps the most probable explanation is that the older stars have been longer subject to the acceleration of gravity produced by the attraction of their compeers.

STARS SEEM TO TRAVEL IN PAIRS THROUGH SKY.

Investigations of the grandest character are now under way concerning the equilibrium of the entire universe under the play of its myriad-handed internal forces. Most fascinating glimpses of stellar associations have already been obtained through these studies.

There appear to be societies among the stars; traveling companions are found in the star depths, sometimes separated, as seen from the earth, by the entire breadth of the sky, but all going the same way in space, as if linked by invisible chains, or governed by some acknowledged principle of common destiny. Sirius has his company, of which, by virtue of his brightness, he may be called the leader, and some of whose members are as far away, on a star chart, as Ursa Major.

Algenib, or Alpha Persei, is, in a similar sense, the leader of another band of star Argonauts. Many of the stars of the constellation Taurus form another association for their great relative size, a company of big fellows, thirty-nine in number.

EARTH LIKE DUST SPECK, DROPPED ON GREAT OCEAN.

"In the vicinity of the sun," says A. S. Eddington, "we have nothing to compare with this collection of magnificent orbs." The smallest is ten times as bright as the sun and the largest a hundred times. This cluster is moving away from us now. Eight hundred thousand years ago it was twice as near as it is at present; in 65,000,000 years it will be a glimmering speck in distant space, a bit of starry gauze, covering an area less than half that filled by the moon's disk.

The motions going on in the universe about us are stupendous beyond thought. The suns swing in orbits of incalculable magnitude and form, and yet all goes on orderly, systematically, unceasingly. And in the midst of the mighty eddies drives the earth, like a speck of dust dropped on the glittering ocean.

Spring Ills

SCARLET FEVER

By Woods Hutchinson, M. D.

The World's Best Known Writer on Medical Subjects

WHAT are these first signs of disturbance, these danger signals of developing infection which call for prompt isolation of your own child or his equally prompt removal from the company of his playmates or schoolfellows who display them?

That is one virtue which must be conceded to these Little Fevers; there is little that is underhand or sneaking in their attack; they usually come promptly out into the open and give you fair warning of their hostile intentions.

So that by keeping an intelligent lookout for their red flags we have a fair fighting chance of both putting their little victims early under such favorable conditions as will insure their throwing off the attack safely and completely nine and a half times out of ten, and also of isolating them before they have had time to spread the infection to many others.

Individual Warnings

Still more fortunately, although the method of attack of each one has individual peculiarities which distinguish it from the others, in points of earliest attack, rash, speed of progress, etc., in the main most of their "kick-offs" are so nearly alike and present such broad family resemblances that one general group of symptoms will cover and serve as a warning for all, without our having to puzzle our heads over the perplexing question of which is which until two or three days later.

These are the weather signs which almost invariably spell "Storm Coming" in the Signal Service of childhood:

Headache, backache, "so tired," hot, peppery, burning sensations in the throat, itching, sneezing and running at the nose, a flushed, hot-looking face, with either brilliantly bright or dull, droopy eyes, reddened, itching and watering eyelids.

Often the very earliest sign of all will be a general fretfulness, restlessness, and discomfort, when movement tires, but keeping still fails to rest, with a curious whining tone in the voice and a look of drowsy discomfort on the face.

Then the Fever

After half a day or day of this sort of thing comes fever, rapidly rising to 101 or 103 degrees.

The headache and backache become more severe, the throat gets sorer, the nostrils more uncomfortable and stopped up.

The child loses his appetite and not infrequently suddenly vomits without any apparent cause. And within twenty-four or forty-eight hours more the special eruptions, throat inflammations, etc.—symptoms which enable us to mark the diseases from each other and decide which one it happens to be—begin to show themselves.
